Dare To Be Different

Dare to be different; life is so full
Of people who follow the same push-and-pull,
Poor, plodding people who, other
than name,
Try to pretend
they're exactly the same.

God made men different;
there never will be
A replica soul made of you or of me.
The charm—the glory of all creation
Rests on this very deviation.

Your charm—your own glory, too,
Lies in being uniquely you—
Lies in being true to your best,
That part of you different from all of the rest.

—Helen Lowrie Marshall

Rainy weather fails to dampen gala festivities of Homecoming

In spite of the drizzly weather, Homecoming festivities continued as planned. Halftime ceremonies began with Joe Duncan presenting Queen Lynn Keyton and attendants Ava Pack, Gail Kemper, Sue Munger and Sue Carter. Tony Trent, a former graduate, crowned Lynn.

Even though West's Dragons lost a close game to the Springfield Panthers and the band and Rhythmettes could not present their show, spirit remained high. The bad weather did not put a damper on Saturday night's semi-formal dance.

Sophomores decorated the west gym with park benches, lights and shrubs to enhance the theme of "McArthur's Park." Students listened and danced to the harmonious sounds of the band, Gandiff.

Youth forums present panels at assemblies

Fairmont Forum, instigated by student curiosity and an idea of senior class sponsor Hugh Brown, gave Westonians up-to-date information concerning politics and journalism. Interest in the national election sought a source for information and the Forum served in this capacity.

Local candidates and some running for national office came to West to appear before the panelists in an assembly situation. Senior class president Curt Wisecup aided in the selection of panelists. Area newspapers, radio and television stations provided coverage on the forums.

Charles Alexander, "Journal Herald" editor, and "Kettering-Oakwood Times" editor Don Wright talked during a forum on journalism. The panelists questioned them on the credibility of the newspaper today, plus the purpose and policies of their respective publications.

Bottom: Panelists Steve Skahan and Ellen Jakes question local politicians on major issues of the upcoming election. Top: District representative Charles Whalen pauses before answering questions from the panel about marijuana, one of the points of controversy in youth today.

Senior Class's Spell of Evil seizes audience

"A Spell of Evil," the senior class play offered mystery and excitement centering around witchcraft. Kettering author John Jakes wrote the play involving ten players. Under the direction of Miss Janet Veigel, the cast devoted time and effort to afford solid entertainment.

"A Spell of Evil" played November 16–18 to capacity audiences each night. Coordinating props and scenery the stage-crew contributed their effort to the play.

Jeanne Miller portrayed the young girl studying witchcraft. Getting her family and friends involved, she developed complications. Sally Moninger, Jeanne's sister, and Lynn Armstrong as Caroline fall victim to the evil spells. Cheryl Owen a witch, possessed Jeanne's spirit.

Ric Reger, Tom; Lou Vlahos, Oscar; Deb Humphreys, Elsie? James Luke, as Strothers and Kiti Clements, Sister Monica, concluded the cast of characters.

NFL members' variety special provides insight

As the year closed, NFL members put on the annual NFL show directed by officers Tom Lawson, Valerie Hodgson, Gail Kemper, Ric Reger, student director Roxanne Massa and teacher Joseph Kuldau.

Besides entertaining students and faculty, the NFL show provided insight on the many activities of the speech program. Varied acts allowed the students to use their creative thinking and acting abilities to present numerous situations.

Different acts included the removal of the morning trash as well as the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Commercials, mimes, dancing, singing and an array of other selections constituted the remainder of the show.

All proceeds went into the speech fund to pay for judges and transportation for competitive speech and theatre contests.

Juniors choose suspense play for production

Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians," chosen by the juniors for their class play, provided the audience with an evening of entertainment. Under the guidance of Joseph Kuldau, student directors, cast and crew presented a murder-mystery.

Strangers to one another, a gathering of people congregate for the weekend on an island off the coast of England. One of the party members dies of an apparent suicide. But a mysterious nursery rhyme leads the group to suspect murder and not suicide as the cause.

They start suspecting one another. As the suspicion grows and they attempt to guard themselves, more murders occur.

Ten little Indian boys went out to dine;
One choked his little self
And then there were nine.
...One little Indian boy left all alone;
So he went and hanged himself
And then there were none.

Sharks, Jets meet their fate under highway

Comedy and tragedy combined to overtake audiences at West Side Story, this year's musical. The story, a modern version of Romeo and Juliet, takes place in New York City. The plot portrays violent feelings of hate between gangs and also a definite generation gap.

Led by Riff, the American Jets, resent the moving in of the Puerto Rican Sharks, led by Bernardo. Tension only increases when the law, Officer Krupke and Lieutenant Schrank, tries to stop their endless war for the honor of the gang.

Situations become more tense when Tony, former leader of the Jets, and Maria, Bernardo's sister, meet during the dance at the gym. Later that same night Tony finds Maria and they fall deeply in love, with all the odds agains them.

Also at the dance Bernardo and Riff decide to meet that night for a war council to determine a suitable place for the Jet and Shark gangs to rumble. They pick the highway underpass as the place; fists, the weapon. At the rumble, things get too involved and the gangs use knives.

Bernardo kills Riff. Tony, who tried to stop the whole rumble, kills Bernardo in revenge. Then the police come and the rumble ends. Even though Tony has slain her brother, Maria still loves him. They decide to run away, but Chino, Maria's fiance, shoots Tony as the play ends.

Fairmont grads aid selection of musical cast

Several tryouts took place during January for the casting of West Side Story. Kathy Ireton, graduate of Fairmont West, held the auditions for dancing. She and Candy French, another West graduate, did most of the choreography. Val Hodgeson and Doug Carpenter assisted.

Orchestra director Don Detrick, chorus director Gene Seeberger and choreographer Kathy Ireton held the voice auditions for the cast members. Three eliminations cut the actors to 36 members.

Open to all in the music department, tryouts showed a large amount of talent. The leading roles consisted of Mary Wagner as Maria, Tim Feerer as Tony, Dennis Boen as Riff, Doug Carpenter as Bernardo and Janet Williams as Anita.

Dave Kohler, Andy Marlay, Jeff Cookson and Craig Carpenter played the adults. A team of three student directors helped by giving cues and filling in at rehearsals. Because of the tragic nature of the play, curtain calls took place only on closing night to recognize the committees, directors, cast and crew members.

Clem Hamilton gets scholar tag from President

On Graduation Day Clem Hamilton received a telegram from President Nixon naming him as a Presidential Scholar. Clem joined 121 other graduates June 17-19 in Washington D.C. President Nixon hosted a dinner in honor of the scholars. Clem's achievement marked the highest honor accorded a Fairmont West student.

On May 22 the Parent-Teacher association held its annual Dragon Bell Awards program. Sixty-two students received the bells for accomplishing outstanding achievements in a variety of academic subjects as well as at-large awards.

Three senior students received recognition for their excellent accomplishments at an assembly held the following week. For the best sports leadership, Rick Black got the Charles Rogers Finley award.

Tom Lawson, NFL president, received the Mary Elizabeth Jones speech award. West recognized Rebecca Hawk, Student Congress president, as the most outstanding citizen by awarding her the David V. Rayburn Memorial Citizenship trophy.

Annual Prom at Dayton Mall for third time

Prom took place for the third year in a row at the Dayton Mall. Decorations such as bumble bees, ladybugs, sailboats, beehives and pinwheels portrayed the theme "Summer Breeze" to enhance the evening. Port Union and two former members of the Stumps provided music.

Kettering's new Recreation Center set the scene for the after-prom. Couples made use of the large pool, ping pong tables and pool tables throughout the night and stayed for breakfast.

Members of the junior class planned the annual occassion. Tina Wells took charge of the seven committees. These included decorations, publicity, tickets, clean-up and props, invitations, photographer and getting sophomore help.

Grads observe formal services in auditorium of Dayton firm

Baccalaureate services held at NCR auditorium marked the eighty-second service in Fairmont's history. Honoring the Class of '73, graduates and their families arrived early for the 4:30 service.

Curtis Wisecup, senior class president, delivered the invocation, followed by two anthems sung by the mixed choir. Curt introduced the Reverend Charles A. Shook of Christ Methodist Church as guest speaker, who delivered the sermon "Wrestler with a Limp."

Cheryl Owens took charge of the annual Candlelight Service, started last year due to the movement of the graduation site. As a faculty representative, Miss Leah Funck opened with a short speech.

Members of the class contributed to the program in their individual ways. Gretchen Freeman and Pam Remnant joined to play a classical flute duet. A reading from Erma Bombeck concerning children and how they follow their parent's ways offered meaning to all in Chris Darby's contribution to the program.

Songs "Impossible Dream," "Sometimes" and "Traces of Love" added to the musical portion. An original speech and poetry readings conveyed the mood at the time. Paul Wagner closed the service with singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Class of 1973 graduates 543 at U D Arena

On June 5 the University of Dayton arena hosted West's Commencement ceremonies for 543 graduates.

Following Jim Luke's invocation, Doug Haacke opened the program with a piano solo of "Eleanor Rigby," Gail Kemper's speech entitled "A Recipe for Education" followed. Jeanne Miller presented an interpretation of "To Sir with Love." Thom Lawson delivered "The Little Things" and Lynne Armstrong's "Never Give In" concluded the speeches.

Providing other entertainment, Diane Kesling sang "Sunrise, Sunset," the string trio of Tim Offensend, Dennis Boen and Philip Dybvig performed and eight chorus members sang "Requim for Masses."

Alfred Bolender then presented the class of 1973 to Kettering Board of Education members who presented diplomas.

After the presentation of diplomas, the class sang the Alma Mater. Val Hodgson gave the convocation and the orchestra played the recessional for departure.

Inexperience dogs gridders only 14 return

Pressured by only 14 returning lettermen, Coach Dick Hoppe drew from past reserves to form a suprisingly balanced offense and a hardnosed defense. The inexperienced men worked hard during the 90 plus temperatures of late August to get ready for the first game.

Alter's Knights defeated West, 15–12. On September 15, Hoppe's purple grid–ders met the Stebbins's Indians. Though a very close game, the scoreboard tallied another loss as the gun sounded.

Losing to Beavercreek with an 0–20 mark, the Dragons looked forward to Springfield and Homecoming. But the final seconds had elapsed as West lost another close one by a score of 6–7.

Dragons recall defeat against East's Falcons

Hoppe's purple and white took the field facing crosstown rival, East. Both teams ended the first half scoreless and in the second half, East held West score–less. The Falcons walked away with a 0–24 win over the Dragons.

On October 27, the Fairborn Flyers ran against West and lost, as the tough Dragon passing attack took over, tromp–ing Fairborn with a final mark of 28–7. The Wayne Warriors went against West the next week and left with the score reading West 21, Wayne 0.

In the last game of the season with Xenia, the Dragons scored a touchdown in the fourth quarter. When the officials nullified this touchdown. Xenia tallied the win with a score of 12–6.

Cross country team places fourth in WOL

West's record didn't convey the team's actual ability. At the Troy Invitational West started the season off right placing second. After defeating Troy, Chaminade, Wayne and Beavercreek, a loss to East met the Dragons. But, they went on to place fourth in the league.

Team captain Randy Lenz, out with an injury, had juniors Brian Brown and Steve Miller to lead the team. The team placed second in the sectionals with Miller and Brown as the lead runners.

Coach Bob Kritzer's new concept this year, the Gold Shoe Award, provided recognitionf for the most outstanding individual runner in a meet.

Interscholastic girls hockey use new ideas

Girls' field hockey added many new ideas this year. Instead of two reserve teams alternating games, every member received a change to play in each game.

New coach Miss Linda Meeds, practiced with the team. She had played hockey for seven years, and she felt that it helped to work with the team instead of telling them what they should do.

Girls' volleyball led this year by Miss Susan Miller, had co-captains Ava Pack and Debbie McClanahan, who provided good leadership for the team. Throughout the season, the team showed much improvement in skills and team work.

Juniors and sophomores constituted most of the team. The probability of returning starters provided a positive outlook for the coming season.

District AAA proves rough for hoopsters

District AAA tournament proved hard for the Dragons this year. West scored one victory in the first game with Miamisburg while going down to defeat in the second game of the tourney to Dunbar. Although the cager's season ended in a 7–11 record, West fought hard all year.

West experineced unexpected losses and wins in an up and down season, according to Coach Bill Kaylor. Statistics determined West as the only team, to beat the District AA Champs, Jefferson, while also defeating the District AAA Champs, Alter.

Senior Dragon Larry Himes, named to the WOL second team, captured the first team, Kettering-Oakwood Times. Honorable mention, WOL, went to senior, Steve Lamb, and sophomore Mike Lee rated a berth on the second team.

Dragon cagers co-champions along with Bucs

Reserve cagers shared the Western Ohio league champion position with Xenia's Buccaneers this year. Suffering only two league defeats, one by Wayne, 42–30, and the other Stebbins, 41–40, the Dragons posted a 7–2 WOL season tally.

Alter beat the Dragons twice, but East and Troy fell when they went up against the tough West machine. After beating Troy with a score of 29–27, the season proved downhill for the hoopsters who lost only three of the last ten games.

Sophomores dominated the reserve cagers this year. Then, under the coaching of Mickey Morgan, the team produced some exciting moments for the fans.

Cheerleaders enliven season through spirit

During the spring of 1972, administration, teachers and members of inter-club and student council judged the '73 varsity cheerleading tryouts. Six seniors and ten juniors received the nod. Miss Sharon Honaker served as adviser for the squads.

Boys on the football squad included seniors Matt Boison and Mac Brock, with juniors Charles Eastman and John Cruise cheered for basketball.

Juniors gained a new responsibility with a four-member varsity cross country and wrestling squad. Their activities helped to create more interest in these sports.

Finals for the reserve basketball cheerleaders decided which six sophomores could represent the reserve team. Duties included yelling at games, treats for the team, working with Pep club and sometimes assisting the varsity squad.

Hoopsters see improved play through season

Girls basketball team finished with a 4–5 record for the 1972–1973 season. The Dragonettes returned with only three seniors, Deb McClanahan, Gretchen Freeman and Peg Andrews who served as tri-captains. In the past three years the team has had three different coaches. This season Mrs. Diana Schwab coached the team.

Leading scorers for the year included senior Deb McClanahan with 63 points, junior D'Ann Moon with 60 and sophomore Nancy Sue Weber with 56.

Many good games filled the schedule. The Wayne game, which ran into overtime, provided some tense moments for the Dragonettes. Improvement prevailed as the cagers seemed more enthusiastic and bettered their last year's season.

Captains lead West grapplers in score setting

Wrestling co-captains Mike Brown and Steve Jackson posted fine records this year. Steve won 10, lost 5 and pinned 2, while Mike posted a 19–5 record, pinning 4. Other seniors Mike Shampton and Bill Hirsch aided the team record.

Jay Van Houten, sophomore, won 18 matches while losing only 7. He pinned 6, which turned out to be the team high. Jay also placed second in the Western Ohio league and sectional tournaments; and fifth in the Dayton district tourney.

Varsity's matmen, with a record of 6–2, lost only to the Centerville Elks and the Fairmont East Falcons. Placing second in the Xenia tournament and fourth in the Fairmont West tournament, the team topped off their winning season.

Injuries stop Dragon gymers in dual meets

Dragon gymnasts, plagued with numerous injuries, never came to full power. But putting injuries aside, first year coach Steve Maltby, lead his Dragon gymnasts to a 5–4 winning season.

Head coach Maltby, a recent graduate of Bowling Green, competed for West in 1968. In his senior year. Steve Maltby suffered a back injury and never had the chance to compete at the state meet.

But this year's Dragons had the chance. Four of the Dragons captured places. In the competition of all-around, senior Jeff Niehus captured sixth; while senior Dave Hafenbrack placed sixth on the sidehorse.

Meanwhile, senior Mathew Hieb fought for second on trampoline, while on the high-bar, junior Kevin Ireton placed second to Miamisburg's Dennis Moore.

Dragonette's big boom fizzles at Falcon hands

Girl gymnasts tumbled through a season ending with a record of 5—3. They began the season strong with a vaulting start. The biggest set back came toward the end of the season, when East defeated West by a slim margin of 4.3 points.

Coach Fran Eden commented that the team concentrated on rebuilding their strength this year. Next year's team should prove more powerful. Cindy Bernard showed good future potential for next year's team.

West placed second in the Fairmont West Invitational, and third out of 16 in the Belmont Invitational. Eileen Heib, Nancy Jorgenson and Elaine Howard gained positions as tri-captains for the 1972-1973 season. Illness kept junior Eileen Heib out most of the season.

West Spikers end season with 3-0 mark

Swift juniors and veteran seniors made the Dragon track team end its season with a 3–0 mark. In dual meets West held its own by losing to no one. The purple and white had tough competition in big meets, but West never settled for anything less than a fourth place finish.

Coach Kritzer relied mainly on the more experienced seniors, but where the senior Dragons lacked the power, the juniors had to fill the vacancies.

East's outstanding runner, Chris Gravel met defeat as Brian Brown, the anchorman on the two-mile relay, beat him at the wire. The team of Steve Miller, Randy Lenz, Scott Stanley and Brian Brown beat the established time of 8:13.1 with a new time of 8:12.6 for the record.

Beating another record the shuttle-hurdle team of David Stiffler, Ed Thornhill, Doug Snell and Pat McDermott broke the old school record of 58.3 with a 58.2 and again with a 58.0.

Twenty teams went to sectionals held at Welcome Stadium. West took a sure first place with 100 points. Dunbar represented the only threat to the Dragons. Pat McDermott took first in the high and low hurdles, with Doug Snell placing second in the high hurdles event.

Tim Kritzer took strong firsts in both the long and high jump. Meanwhile, Kevin Ireton took third place in the pole-vault with a 12'1" mark. Brian Brown ran for a third place spot in the mile run.

Two juniors head doubles for '73 season

Alternating doubles team of Rick Black, Jeff Klank and Steve Skahen finished the season with an 11–2 record. Jim Schneider and Steve McDonald headed up the doubles team with a 10–1 record.

Dragon netmen pulled through the season with a reassuring record. Tryouts attracted 45 students. Larry Kimberlain returned to coach the team. Senior members included Jeff Klank, Rick Black, Matt Price, Casey Daganhardt and Steve Skahen.

Sectional tournament brought victory to singles player, Casey Daganhardt. He won the sectional singles title for the second year in a row by defeating number one seeded Gary Scher of Fairview. Sophomore Brian Huffer, undefeated throughout the season, lost in the quarter finals.

Experiencing minor difficulties, girls tennis got off to a good start. Rain prevailed most of the season therefore cancelling and rescheduling matches. Linda Meads assumed the job of coaching tennis this year as a first year teacher at West.

This year's team included no seniors, thus showing much promise for next year's team. Dragonettes served up a 10–1 record for the 1972–73 season. Playing singles, Connie Compton took first place and Sallie Wilson and Amy Daganhardt alternated second and third places.

Dani Korkegi and Cindy Haacke teamed up to play second doubles and Beth MacBride and Mona Ellerbrock worked together as the first doubles team.

Dragon golfers hit best season know to West

Dragon golfers stroked to another victorious season, losing only two games this season. Edsell Burris, Robin Wright, John Muehlstein, Jeff Wurtz and Jim Awsumb led the powerful team under Coach Bill Kaylor. The linksmen tallied the best season in West's history.

Topped only by Alter, West placed second in the sectionals. The mighty team then went on to place first in the WOL. After placing second in the districts, they went on to play in state competition.

West received the honor of having three of its senior members named to the Dayton area all-star team. Fairmont's Edsell Burris ranked first out of the Dayton area with John Muehlstein and Robin Wright named to the top ten.

Girls' golf had only one returning member this year. Martha Walters, the only returnee, set the pace for the Dragonettes. Four girls made up the squad for most of the matches: Martha, Betsey Green, Cindy Stemper and Sue Pratt.

Rainy weather cancels games during season

Despite officials cancelling ten out of the first 16 ball games, due to inclement weather, the Dragons won six consecutive games. Dropping their first game to Patterson 5 to 2, the Dragons then beat Alter twice 7 to 1 and 4 to 2.

Dayton District tournament Play proved tough for the team this season. In first round play the Dragons fell to archrival Fairmont East 4 to 3. East again proved to be the spoiler, knocking the team out of the Western Ohio league race in their second meeting by the score of 4 to 3.

Headed by coach Diana Schwab, the girls softball team, with only a few returning experienced players from the past season posted a fine record in 1973. Led by sophomore Sylvia Osterfeld, the team lost only three games to East, Alter and Lebanon to end up with a 4 and 3 record.

Students lend individuality to intramurals

Intramural season began for the 1972–73 school season starting out with the traditional winter sports. Athletic programs such as these, designed pleasure and recreation for the student who likes to participate in sports events. Team and individual efforts conveyed students feelings toward intramural activities at West.

Francis Eden directed the girls' intramural program during the year. Approximately 300 took part in the program. Each girl chose the events in which she would participate. These consisted of bowling, table tennis, basketball, softball, tennis, volleyball, hockey and archery.

Two new directors, Steve Maltby and Fred Herdman, headed the boys' intramural program this year. Team names, such as "Twinkies," "Cake-Eaters" and "Hard Hats" appeared throughout the year in each of the sports. Boys chose football, table tennis, wrestling, basketball and track as intramural sports.

Kathy Herdman named adviser for Rhythmettes

To start the new year, the Rhythmettes received a brand new adviser. With the choreographer, Mrs. Joyce Dalton, the new adviser, Mrs. Kathy Herdman, assisted the corps in planning their many routines, dances, props and the traditional mystery Rhythie week.

Beginning the marching season, the corps performed at the annual Holiday at Home parade, and continued through the year at every home football game and a few basketball games.

Dancing to such numbers as "California Dreamin'," "Drums in my Heart," "Horse" and "Little Shoemaker," the drill team used Mickey Mouse heads, clown faces, pom-poms and flags to add variety and color to their selections.

Consisting of 50 girls, the drill team learned their dances from the four white officers, Kathy Whitehead, Claudia Hall, Kristy Wing and Anne Whitney.

Members work raising money to buy uniforms

Raising money for new uniforms took hard work and effort from band members this fall. They sold raffle tickets for a trip to the Bahamas, served a spaghetti dinner on December 9 and performed at the Delco auto show as part of their fund-raising events for the year.

Competing at several different events, West's band received second place at the Western Ohio Drill Team Invitational at Centerville. They plced fifth at Fairborn in the annual band contest.

Under the direction of David Finkam and Wesley Haines, the band played at all halftime show, performed new tunes like "Hello Dolly," "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing" and "Budweiser." Drum major Dennis Boen and Norma Brown, majorette led the band.

Singers peddle holiday candles for new outfits

Limited financial funds kept mixed chorus from responding to an offer for a European trip which they received this year. Thus, to increase their treasury the mixed chorus sold candles. The profits went into a fund to buy new choir robes sometime in the near future.

Girls' choir kept busy through the year. Christmas and Winter concerts given with Mixed Chorus took many weeks to prepare. Gene Seeberger led rehearsals during fifth periods and many days after school.

Money made from candle sales bought new performance outfits for the girls. These outfits consisted of floor length skirts and a blouse of the girls' choosing.

Band receives superior rating in state contest

After football season ended, the marching band diminished and in its place came the Fairmont West symphonic band.

Under the direction of David Finkam and Wesley Haines, the concert band gave two concerts. During winter and spring concerts, some of the pieces performed included "Commando," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Piqua Dame" and others.

After the spring concert, the band participated in the district contest held at Springfield North. There they received a superior rating which qualified them for the state competition in Columbus.

Doug Snell, president; Bob Parker, vice-president; Pam Remnant, secretary-treas-president and Pam Remnant served as officers for the band this year.

West students display talent in orchestra

Orchestra generated great student body support and interest throughout the year. Stringed instrument players and qualified members of the band (only the first three chairs of every instrument) participated in orchestra activities.

Frequently given concerts, and special assemblies improved form and tone of its musicians. Under the supervision of Donald Detrick, the orchestra represented West in contests with other area schools. All of the practice necessary for participation in the all school musical, kept members active before Commencement, their final performance of the school year.

Volunteers use study hall time to serve West

Student secretaries provided many services as assistants to teachers. Students helped save teachers time by doing various tasks. These included taking attendance, grading papers, typing tests, running errands and answering the telephone.

Office assistants also spent study hall time doing volunteer work for the school. Students worked in the main office and in the unit offices. They performed several duties. Assistants collected tardy lists and absentee forms. Other workers filed, stapled and worked the switchboard.

Library assistants helped perform many tasks in the resource center. Assistants issued books, sorted the returns, replaced books to the stacks and helped students who needed magazines, other periodicals or filmstrips and sorted new additions.

Other students volunteered time to help perform various services for West. Hall monitors distributed packages and other materials to teachers during study halls.

Students learn stagecraft arts; create visuals; study aviation

Students interested in aviation formed a new Aviation club this year. The club began meetings in March. Members invited guest speakers to give talks at the meetings. Speakers included a Kettering police helicopter pilot, a World War II pilot and a man from the Civil Air Patrol.

Aviation club officers scheduled field trips to Moraine Air Park, the Montgomery County airport, the Cox Municipal airport and the Air Force museum. Officers included Don Janning, Steve Henry, Steve Zubrick and Sam Latham. Frank Maus served as adviser to the club.

Women's lib entered the field of stagecraft this year. As interest grew in the area of stagecraft, three girls worked as part of the stage crew. Angie Birk, Sue Munger, Kathy Horning and other members of the stage crew learned the fundamentals of stagecraft.

Students studied stagecraft as part of a regular class. The stage crew learned how to design, construct and decorate the stage settings. They also studied lighting techniques and sound effects.

Stage crew members used their knowledge to serve the school. The crew made both sets for the class plays. They provided service as stage hands. Stage crew members worked the stage lights and projection room lights for the productions.

Students interested in visual aids provided service to the school as assistants to the visual aids department head, Wylie Graham. They provided audio-visual supplies and equipment to teachers when they needed them for class activities.

Routine duties included repairing sixteen millimeter films and cassettes, lettering visuals, dry mounting pictures and producing visuals. Assistants scheduled the equipment for time and rooms so that each teacher received the correct equipment on the requested day.

French adviser concludes role after 25 years

Retiring after 25 years, Miss Mary Belle Warren ended her career as a teacher and as an adviser to French club. Along with Mrs. Joan Burns, they helped the club organize such activities as guest speakers, French movies, a field trip to Miami university to see a French play and the annual banquet held in May.

Election of officers took place in the fall for both French and Art clubs. The officers for French club included Debbie Smith, president; Patty Roberts, vice-president; Michele Pitstick, secretary; Beth Thompson, treasurer and Ann Creekmore as social chairman.

Art club participated in several shows. Several entered the Scholastic Art awards competition, receiving gold keys. Judy Charge and Dave Hafenbrack made the finals in this competition. Gwen Deeter, president; Dave Hafenbrack, vice-president; Cindy Bonhart and Roxanne Masa served as officers to Art club.

Spaniards use members' dues to fund events

Spanish club collected dues of $1 in the fall for their various projects. On December 14, the breaking of the pinata added excitement to their Christmas party. Bake sales during the year provided money to work on Spanish crafts, which gave the group a better idea of Spanish customs.

Although Students International Meditation is in it's first year at West, they drew many interested followers. Several bake sales after school earned money for the group's fund. Introductory lectures in the public library presented a better knowledge of Trancendental Meditation.

JCOWA-AFS work together strengthening foreign affairs

American Field Service entertained foreign exchange student Edson Aslan in the annual program. Edson hails from Brazil and stayed with the Mohr family during his visit in the United States.

Sponsored by the AFS program, west unit senior Linda Hartley visited Denmark last summer. Tina Smith left for South Africa in January for one year as an exchange student representing West.

December 13, AFS held their annual assembly. Three AFS students from area high schools joined Edson and Linda in recounting events and topics ranging from family life, school and customs.

JCOWA's annual bazaar took place on October 25. Each country represented at the bazaar displayed their dress, food and articles depicting their culture.

Fifteen representatives from JCOWA attended the High School Institute held at the University of Dayton for two days in December. The Institute hosted all clubs in the Miami Valley and presented a program, "Peacekeeping in the Seventies."

West's JCOWA club participated in one more program at UD in February, the Model General Assembly. Every school present at the MGA, a mock United Nations Assembly, represented a country. Together the countries offered ideas and sponsored bills to promote world peace.

West's council splits to change old structures

Student Congress divided itself into two divisions, the Senate and Social council. This major change in structure made it possible for the Congress to concentrate on many areas of student life.

Throughout this school year one of the major objectives of the entire Congress consisted of the improvement of the student-faculty relationships. Each teacher received an apple with a note welcoming them back the first day of school. They also tried promoting a social aspect by the "Take a Teacher to Lunch" program.

Painting florescent blocks for the parking lot, holding "campus Clean-up Day" and studying various types of grade point averaging occupied the members' time.

"McArthur Park" served as the theme for the annual homecoming events held by the Congress. The council organized its third Leadership Retreat with the largest turn-out of adults ever. An end of the year turn-about took place with the theme "Rock Around the Clock."

Inter-club council gathered monthly to discuss club problems and schedule activities in an attempt to avoid conflicting events. They set up morning announcement tryouts and prepared a list of band recommendations for club dances.

Rebecca Hawk served as student council president while Carol Talbot acted as the vice-president and ICC president. Other officers and chairmen for the senate and council included Cindy Ray, Deb Stork, Diane Butcke, Nancy Detrick and Christy Lindamood with Robert Janes and Paul Wagner serving as advisers.

Clubs provide new, organized soccer action; games on ice

Ice hockey club extended its activities in its second year by interesting members in the Dayton Amateur Hockey association. Many members took the opportunity to participate in organized hockey games at the Ice House. DAHA members practiced or played in two games a week.

James Falasco served as a new adviser. Officers Jeff Short, president; John Rix, vice-president; Joel Ryan, secretary and treasurer Paul Border worked to make the club active and to provide new activities for its members. New activities included a trip to a Cincinnati Swords game.

Soccer club's second season brought an increase in popularity for the sport. A continuous increase of interest in soccer made it elegible for status as an interscholastic activity at West. This season soccer club participated in matches with other schools on an intramural basis.

Under the coaching of Wright State student, Tim Bridges the team played a winning season. While playing 15 games, the group lost three and tied one. Mark Wall and Doug Haacke served as team captains.

Athletic clubs sponsor events for public good

Varsity F held a one-on-one basketball tournament at the Kettering YMCA. In the 6' and over division John Ousley received first place. Tom Grabeman caught the top spot in the category of 5' 11" and under. Tom Wendling and Don Cash respectively received runnerup positions.

In addition to the other activities of Varsity F, several members took part in a program of officiating basketball games in elementary schools in Kettering.

Rick Black served as president with the assistance of Steven Lamb as vice-president. Larry Himes, Roger Osterfeld and Joe Duncan respectively served as sergeant-at-arms, treasurer and secretary.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes initiated a new project in accordance with the athletic coaches at West. The two groups sold Christmas trees on the tennis courts during the month of December. All profits went into a scholarship fund for an athlete from Fairmont West.

Frank Spolrich served as the adviser to FCA. Bob Lewis and Bob Sandman acted as president and vice-president. James Hook, treasurer and Stu Wheeler, secretary, assisted with the handling of the club's meetings and activities.

Dances, sales provide money for pep clubs spirit activities

Although pep club began its year under financial difficulties, various club fund-raising activities provided the money for treats, decorating supplies and buses. The projects included several dances, greeting card sales, club dues and bake sales.

Sale of pep products provided some additional money and served to boost school and team spirit. Members sold balloons, decals, ribbons, license plate holders and pom-poms during lunch hour and at the football games.

Serving as the new adviser to pep club, Fred Herdman initiated plans to increase spirit and make the club more effective. He hoped to make the club serve the members as well as athletic teams.

Under the leadership of officers Holly Janney, president; Cay Coen, vice-president; Jaime Kehoe, secretary and Belinda Scrimenti, treasurer, members spent time spreading spirit by painting signs and by decorating the locker rooms.

Pep club sold custom-handmade, purple and white "pep" mittens. Several members painted signs for yards of players, senior band members and Rhythies. Pep club members constructed paper footballs for Parents' Night for identification.

During both the football and basketball seasons, pep club chartered pep buses for away games. The club provided the spirit kazoos for the East-West game to highlight the basketball season.

Self-defense club has Westonians as instructors

Karate club, advised by Bill Whipple, taught by instructor Tim Brooks, joined the West club scene. Brooks had John Dieterle as his assistant. Meetings included films of summer karate camp and lessons to help qualify for belt ranking tests administered in March and June.

Members hoped to keep the club alive through its infancy of the 1972—73 year. Dues of $15 for the first two months and $10 every month thereafter helped to pay for Mr. Brooks and the film rental.

Chess club members paid yearly dues of $2., part of which covered membership in the United States Chess Federation. Dues money also bought new chess sets, clocks, boards and books. Adviser Fred Kingrey worked closely with the five members of the chess team.

In the state championship, the A team placed 13 out of a field of 72. The two accompaning teams placed farther down on the list of competitors.

Eight members of chess club attended National Tournament in Chicago, Illinois, on May 4-6. The attending members had to provide the money for their way to the Tournament this year.

Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y initiate projects to raise money, benefit others

Tri-Hi-Y staged two money raising projects this year. They sponsored a dance after a football game on October 27 and a garage sale at the Kettering YMCA. Proceeds went into the treasury for future projects and activities.

Prior to Thanksgiving, club members purchased turkeys and collected canned goods from students to provide dinner for needy families in the Dayton area.

As a Christmas project, the members of Tri-Hi-Y decorated west and central unit lobbies at school. Officers for the club included Linda Hartley, president; Debbie Elrod, vice-president; secretary, Jennifer Badenhop; treasurer, Cara Schumacher; sergeant-at-arms, Olivia De Roziere.

Doing their part to help the community, the Hi-Y boys participated in club activities. In the fall, members ran 11 miles in the "Hike for the Handicapped" and collected $60. Every Sunday Hi–Y entertained the patients at the Children's Medical Center in Dayton.

Oblivious to the abolishment of slavery, Hi-Y had a slave auction on November 30 as a fund raising project. Slavemasters owned their slave for one day and night. The profits went into the treasury.

Those members providing leadership for the club included Tom Grabeman as president and Dan Miller as the vice-president with Dan Whitmer, Chip Stork and Doug Weimer serving respectively as the chaplain, treasurer and secretary.

Cinema West interest drops; REC provides experimentation

West's movie club began its second year with the new name, Cinema West. Members renamed the club so as to better explain the club's purpose. During the year members noted a sharp decrease in movie crowds as interest dwindled.

Cinema West members worked toward their long-range goal of purchasing a new screen and speaker system for the school while simultaneously providing students with inexpensive entertainment. Movies presented included "They Shoot Horses Don't They" and "The Hired Hand."

Members highlighted the season by showing a double feature consisting of "Planet of the Apes" and "Psycho." Cinema West officers, Cathy Focke, president; Judy Charge, vice-president and Karen Paterchak, secretary-treasurer, provided leadership. Paul Wagner served as the adviser to the club.

Radio Electronics club provided the opportunity for all students interested in electronics to further their study in the area. REC offered its members the use of machines and equipment as a means of experimenting with electronics.

Mel Butler held the position of president in REC. Mike Thornton served as vice-president with Terry Rawnsley as secretary-treasurer. Wayne Wills supervised the club as its adviser.

Fame spreads for West's JA; Community jobs give experience

Westco, the Junior Achievement company, noticed an increase in its popularity among the student body this year. Due to its increase in sales, both in the school and city, Westco found its fame had spread throughout the Miami Valley.

All 180 JA companies in the Dayton area sent representatives to the Junior Achievers association which planned activities for the JA companies in the high schools. Joel Ryan, president and representative of Westco, received the elected position of president of the Achievers.

On March 3 and 4, Westco participated in the Annual Trade Fair held at the Dayton Mall. Westco members sold their product, giant paper clips and made $300 in total sales. Members took part in other JA activities which included a swimming party and banquet at the end of the year.

Joel Ryan provided leadership for JA as president. Other officers included Bob Shultz, treasurer; Cathy Focke, secretary; Ed Melvin, vice-president of sales; Mark Wall, vice-president of manufacturing.

For the third consecutive year, Community Service provided an opportunity for students to work in the Kettering community. The program offered an excellent job experience for students to learn and work and at the same time help others and decide about future vocations.

In addition to working in the Kettering hospital, the city building, the elementary schools and the Retarded Children's program, Hugh Brown, the adviser, placed students in various new areas. These included the junior high schools, the coroner's office and the school for the deaf.

New activities highlight year of career clubs

Future Business Leaders of America and the Home Economics club staged a number of valuable events at West. By participating in these projects, many students learned to choose a career.

Gayle Kemper, president of the Home Ec club guided the group through many new opportunities this year. Bake sales, stationary sales and dues raised money to send the new officers to a Christian Leadership camp in the summer. Socially, the group held a hayride and slumber party.

Students spoke on such topics as candlemaking, home examples and weight-watching, providing a few topics of information. Also a guest from Dayton Power and Light spoke on home management.

FBLA prepared those students wanting a career in the business world. At the district meeting in October, Roland Mehl, supervisor of business education for Kettering public schools spoke. Elected officers met in central unit lobby November 15, for an induction ceremony.

Officers included Barb Schepers, president; Larry Back, vice-president; Cathy Focke, secretary; Pam Peterson, reporter and Gary Back, treasurer. Traditional projects included selling calendar towels, candy and sponsoring bake sales. Funds furnished members district competition.

FBLA representatives attended the national convention in Washington, D.C., June 16–20. Those attending included Joe Duncan (as Ohio's Mr. FBLA) and Dee Behumer. Edsell Burris and Joe represented West at the April Ohio Business Leaders' conference in Columbus.

Clubs combat lack of interest in membership

Future Teachers of America and the Future Medical Careers each started with the problem of membership. They did not let this hinder the club and began the planning of yearly activities.

FMC, with adviser Mrs. Bessie Madden, listened to speakers talking on topics of psychology and dentistry. The club held an ice skating-Christmas party with Hi-Y. They made a trip to Ohio State university to look over the school's facilities.

Sponsoring a fishing pond at the annual faculty picnic in September, FTA started to organize their year. A visit to several open-spaced schools and sitting in with a Fairmont class of their own choice for a day, aided the members in visualizing the responsibility of the teacher.

Academic clubs highlight year with math test, lasers, optics

Science club held monthly meetings for interested students. Members saw demonstrations on lasers and optics. Several students did experiments with contact explosives and tesla oil. East unit physics teacher Richard Tinnerman advised.

Club officers included Phil Dybvig, president; Gary Deis, vice-president and Kitty Clements, secretary-treasurer.

Math club met regularly to prepare for the math actuary test. Meetings aided interested students to learn the basic ideas of problem solving and information for solving more advanced test problems.

Math teacher, Alvin Funderburg advised the club members. He provided them with example problems from previous actuarial tests and explained techniques for solving them. Clem Hamilton, Mike Orlando and Brent Eresman won the first three places. The team score won a seventh place in the state rankings.

Four members of speech team place in state

Four members of the National Forensic league, Brad Abbey, Jim Luke and Cheryl Billings received state honors at the Ohio tournament held in Columbus. Thomas Lawson placed third in the state.

NFL opened the membership at the start of this school year to speakers who earned individual points by participating in contests during the year. Members raised money by selling programs.

Carrying out the Wednesday morning announcements of "Uncle Bob," members sold soft pretzels and earned additional money by the performance of the annual NFL show in the spring.

GAA advisers test new ideas throughout year

Many new ideas found their way into the plans of the Girls' Athletic association this year. East unit physical education classes received a new teacher and a new coach for several interscholastic and intramural sports. Miss Fran Eden again acted as adviser to GAA, with Mrs. Diana Schwab managing the intramural bowling.

GAA members selected "Rainbow Reflections" as the theme of the turnabout dance held on January 20. The couples danced to the music of "Wanderlust." Elaine Howard reigned as queen with Ava Pack, Barb Graves, Ellen Jakes and Deb McClanahan as members of the court.

Dues of $2., collected in the fall, made possible the awards, equipment and the paying of officials. GAA held an awards program and banquet on May 17. Members received recognition for their efforts during the year as well as special ones for seniors. Items awarded included wooden plaques, charms and the block "F."

Clubs provide winter skiing, spring cycling

Poor weather and cancellations plagued Ski club throughout the season. Lengthy periods of warm temperatures caused the postponement of two Sugarcreek skiing dates. Bad weather postponed the major trip of the season two different times.

Club members highlighted the season by taking a trip to Alpine Valley in Michigan. The area provided a greater course for the skiers, giving them the choice of over 15 lifts and 20 slopes.

Ski club continued to offer Westonians an economical program. Many members took advantage of the Sugarcreek program, whereby they could ski five evenings a week and receive three lessons.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Meyer, Mrs. Ellen Follett and Mark Lecklider chaperoned the ski trip. Mrs. Follett served as adviser to Ski club and officers included Steve Skahen, president; Matt Price, vice-president; Brian Rodgers, program chairman and Anne Whitney, secretary-treasurer.

Cycling club provided a new sports activity for West students this year. The new club sponsored bike hikes for racers and recreational riders. Members met in the spring and planned the rides.

Several members highlighted their year by holding a hike to Miami university in Oxford. Members stayed overnight during the two-day trip. Officers planned other trips to Xenia and Bellbrook. Club members also took several area rides.

Cycling club advisers William Arnold and Mrs. Barbara Unger gave assistance to the club officers: Jeff Noyes, president; Cathy Munger, secretary; Randy Kremer, vice-president and John Woods, treasurer.

Quill, Scrolls taps 14 staffers to honor roll

Quill and Scroll, the journalistic club, initiated 14 new juniors and seniors into its chapter at a spring candlelight ceremony. These students contributed significantly to one of the publications.

Jim Hook served as the president of the chapter at West, with Jaime Kehoe acting as the club's vice-president. Miss Judy Lewis served as adviser for this international journalism honorary.

May 25 hosted the journalism banquet at Ted Parker's Top-of-the-Mall restaurant located in downtown Dayton. Guests included representatives from the yearbook publishing company, Logan's studio and some members of West's faculty.

Five members of the Dragon staff received awards which signified outstanding journalism achievement. Jane Butler, Tim Micklos, Retta Walters, Kristy Wing and Lois Tungate each received a trophy for their work on the 1973 yearbook.

Jaime Kehoe, Jim Hook and Rebecca Harding got the trophies for their contributions to the publication of Dragon Tales. Both staffs presented Miss Judy Lewis, adviser to the publications, a small gift of appreciation.

Staff sponsors unusual contest for mustaches

Dragon Tales incorporated two new ideas into the newspaper this year. The staff added the use of some syndicated articles by famous Americans like Gayle Sayers and Walter Cronkite. They also used some new layout designs.

March 7 marked the final judging of the hairy upper lips entered in the mustache contest. Doug Haacke won first place in the category of those men growing mustaches just for the contest; while Steve Stratton won the category of men already having one. They received loving cups.

In October the newspaper received an All-American rating for the second semester issues of the 1971–72 paper. This represents the highest rating awarded by the National Scholastic Press association.

Smaller staff, financial woes hurt production of '73 Dragon

Yearbook staffers produced the 1973 Dragon with a smaller staff and a limited amount of money. Due to the lack of interested students, only one class of editorial people published the entire book. Each staff member had to do a double amount of work to complete the Dragon.

Financial problems plagued the Dragon. Many area businesses failed to patronize the book as in the past. Members sold only $6200 in advertising. In hopes of raising extra money, Kristy Wing, business manager, contacted the PTA. The parent letter went to the homes of West students in the January PTA newsletter.

One innovation this year included the purchase of an IBM composer. Sharing costs jointly, the school board, the Dragon and Dragon Tales bought the machine for the purpose of setting type for both publications. Adviser Judy Lewis instructed students in the operation of the machine.

In July editor-in-chief Retta Walters and editors Jacqi Loewy and Sandy Morris attended a workshop at Indiana university. Miss Lewis attended the Taylor Publishing workshop held at Moorehead university, Moorehead, Kentucky.

In the fall, Miss Lewis, Retta and Lois Tungate traveled to Chicago for the National Scholastic Press convention. All new staff members attended a one day seminar at the University of Dayton.

All the workshops and seminars gave staff members new ideas for production of the Dragon. Staffers used a new five column layout style. Members also used many methods to add lively information. Routine duties included planning layouts, writing copy and scheduling pictures. Tim Micklos and Dave Amli took pictures.

Business staff members typed bills, sold books, prepared the patron section of the book plus keeping the index of students.

Chester Roush receives award for his interest

Chester Roush, Kettering superintendent of schools, joined with others in the Churchman's Sports Hall of Fame. Mr. Roush received the award for his active interest in sports and his church work.

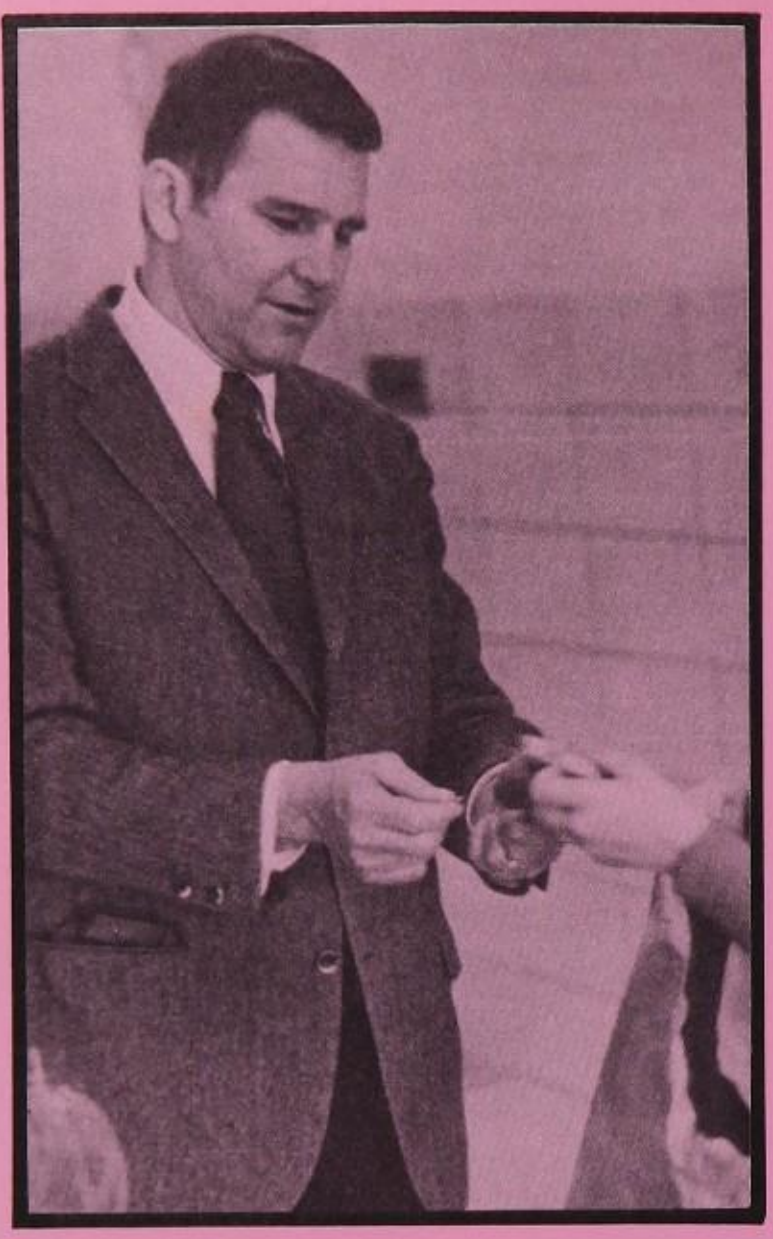
Mr. Roush spent an unusual and different St. Patrick's Day this year. In place of his usual noontime meal, Mr. Roush, along with other prominent business men worked as busboys at the Surf n' Turf restaurant. All tips and donations collected by these men totaled $500. and went to Barney Children's hospital.

Two major break-throughs occurred affecting Kettering's elementary schools. The board of education made decisions to add counselors to the teaching staffs. at the elementary level and some "multi media" learning and research centers.

In addition to elementary adjustments, the board intends changes for the junior and senior high levels. The plans include a typing course available for ninth grade and the installation of carpet in the resource center at Fairmont West.

Alfred Bolender, West principal, coordinated the student-exchange program with England. The exchange program, sponsered by the National Association of Secondary Principals, consists of sending 15 West students to England and having five English students at West.

Paul Wagner, assistant principal, acted as adviser to the renamed Cinema West. He chaired a committee for establishing a teacher evaluation form. Actively involved, Mr. Wagner works with organizing the work of the guidance counselors.



Upper left: Paul Wagner helps support NFL by buying a pretzel from Tina Doebler. Center: Chester Roush prepares his agenda for the next Board of Education meeting. Right: Alfred Bolender serves as moderator for the Fairmont Forum during an election-time assembly.

Alfred Bolender—Principal-Fairmont West, adviser to Student Council.

Howard Flatter—Assistant Superintendent of Curriculum and Instruction.
Clark J. Haines—Assistant Superintendent of Personnel and Community Relations.
John T. Lucas—Assistant Superintendent for Business.

Chester Roush—Superintendent of Kettering Schools.
Paul E. Wagner—Assistant Principal-Fairmont West, adviser to Cinema West and Inter-Club Council.
Maurice Wogaman—Assistant Superintendent of Pupil Personnel.

Supervisors chair groups for evaluation

Each unit supervisor's schedule stayed completely full this year. These schedules consisted of heading the North—Central Evaluation Committees, supervising an academic subject, serving on various important committees effecting curriculum changes and working with students and faculty in their respective units.

Fairmont's secretaries completed another productive year. Secretaries fulfilled many duties ranging from typing business letters and filing records to signing tardy slips and distributing bandaids.

Central unit received a new girls' counselor at the beginning of the year. Mrs. Mary Fletcher took over the task of helping and guiding the girls. The remaining counselors had the same jobs to do along with working on the orientation of the sophomores, junior parent education seminars and teaching sophomore guidance.

Redskin grads fill vacancies on English staff

Miami grads Penni Meyers and Patty Gulling filled the vacant positions left in the English department this year. The two instruct American literature classes.

Plays and movies remained a large part of the English curriculum this year. In English literature classes such plays as "Macbeth" and "Antigone" interested students. Studies in American literature included the traditional "Our Town," "The Crucible" and " All my Sons."

Literary analysis classes focused on the plays of Henrik Ibsen and "Oedipus." The General English classes read only "A Diary of Anne Frank" and "Julius Caesar." English fiction, a new course on the semester basis, extended the curriculum.

Films played an important part in both the classrooms as well as combined programs in the auditorium. Such movies as "The Good Earth," "Far from the Madding Crowd" and "The Grapes of Wrath" added interest to the total program.

Penni Meyers—American literature and composition.
Margaret Rooney—English literature and composition, Basic English.

Speakers offer children's play to area school

Joseph Kuldau's contest speech classes presented a play for eight of the elementary schools in this district. The play "The Dancing Donkey," consisted of a single act and six cast members. These students gave the play through May.

All the other speech classes dealt mainly with learning the skills and techniques of acting and worked on individual roles in different plays. They worked also with presenting cuttings and contest speeches in the classroom.

Foreign language teachers experimented with different techniques that could help the students learn. Merrila Davis's Spanish II class tried a free study program towards the beginning of the school year.

Each student had a schedule to complete and when finished with this they could do as they pleased until the next assignment had been given. In the other classes the students played bingo, listened to tapes and a variety of language-learning methods to increase their knowledge.

Students learn about computers during seminar

East unit math teacher Alvin Funderburg directed the computer seminar held on Saturday afternoons. In the semester course, students learned how to program computers and use it in everday work.

Fairmont West students participated in the math actuary test. As a team effort, West came in sixth in the state. Clem Hamilton placed first, with Mike Orlando, second and Brent Eresman, third.

Central unit's math department added a new teacher to its staff. Mrs. Barbara Unger, a graduate of Bowling Green university, filled the open position.

West unit math teacher Jerry Neff held only four classes a day. Working toward his doctorate, Mr. Neff attended classes at Miami university in Oxford, Ohio.

New teacher comes to West in Science staff

Some changes occurred in the science department this year. New to the faculty of West, James Larson taught chemistry, general chemistry and Science II.

Frank Spolrich moved his classroom from 119 in East unit to 319 in West. In his Biology I class, the only course he now teaches, students fried rabbit during all classes, which they then ate.

Westonians attended the Junior Science and Humanity symposium in Columbus, February 9—11. Donna Melhuish, Ed McWhirt and Connie Bierlein represented West during the symposium.

Chemistry IV changed to Physics II for one semester and Chemistry II for the other semester. Fred Kingrey taught the physics with Elby Tackett, chemistry.

Class requests small children for observation

Hugh Brown's classes kept themselves busy this year. Two little children, the subjects of studies about child behavior, attended psychology classes for a day.

One civics class displayed how a computer determines election results. A panel presented a mock demonstration consisting of a homemade computer giving the projected results of a classroom election.

New teachers, Mrs. Kathy Herdman, Bill Whipple and Steve Stratton, replaced Lester Heistand and Louis Zaremski. They occupied themselves with coaching and Rhythmette supervising.

Addition of new courses caused one more change to the department. Courses offered included psychology, American studies (literature and history combined), Modern European history, Africa and the Middle East and Asian history.

Using a team-teaching technique, Fred and Kathy Herdman taught the American studies course. Jaime Kehoe entertained Robert Janes's Asian history class for an authentic Japanese meal on December 7.

Joyce Armocida—home management, child development, foods 1, 2, 3; clothing 1, 2, 3; adviser for Home Ec club.
John Beck—special education, Hi—Y adviser.
Rosemary Brown—special education, basic Englsih, basic science, guidance and health.

Helen Vogelsang—foodts 1, 2, 3: clothing 1, 2, 3; home management, child development.

Projects course offers variety to Westonians

Home economic projects, for seniors only, allows students time to work on any projects of their choice. Some included knitting afghans and sewing different articles of clothing. Miss Sue L. Miller, a graduate from Ohio university in 1972, occupied a position in Central unit.

Seniors enrolled in the child development course study the growing child from birth to the age of 12. The major aim of the course is to develop a better understanding of the adolescent, and of themselves. Field trips included an observation of a kindergarten class.

Wright State graduate, John Beck, filled a open position in special education this year. In Mr. Beck's east unit class they concentrate generally on basic ideas that are essential for everyday living.

Fashion pros speak to classes in Business Ed

Speakers played a major role in most of the business education classes this year. In Mrs. Lois Hike's classes, Sue Jones of Sears Department store taught the girls in business classes some methods of co-ordinating business outfits to wear while working as professional secretaries.

In another session, Jeanne Keil of the London Shop spoke on cosmetic chemistries and hair analysis. She tested hair under a microscope and on the microgram scale. Jean Kenkel, a former stewardess with Delta, gave an informal talk on cosmetology and stew requirements.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnston and Mrs. Jane Nolan took their classes on a field trip to Sinclair Community college where John Weaver conducted their tour. Tom Webster, IBM sales representative, spoke to these same classes concerning some new products introduced by IBM.

June Roberts—bookkeeping, record keeping, personal typing, JA adviser.

Holiday concert acquaints public with program

During the holiday season, the mixed and girls' choruses, along with the orchestra, presented an evening of Christmas carols. This year for the first time, the program gave the viewing public a look at the annual Christmas show.

East and West combined choruses for an outdoor interdenominational Christmas concert at Foreman Field. Together the groups sang a variety of songs under the direction of Gene Seeberger.

Interest in the music theory class rose this year, as indicated in the increased enrollment. Taught by Wesley Haines, the class learned the basic fundamentals of music. The different studies included familiarization with the writing and composing of music as well as appreciation.

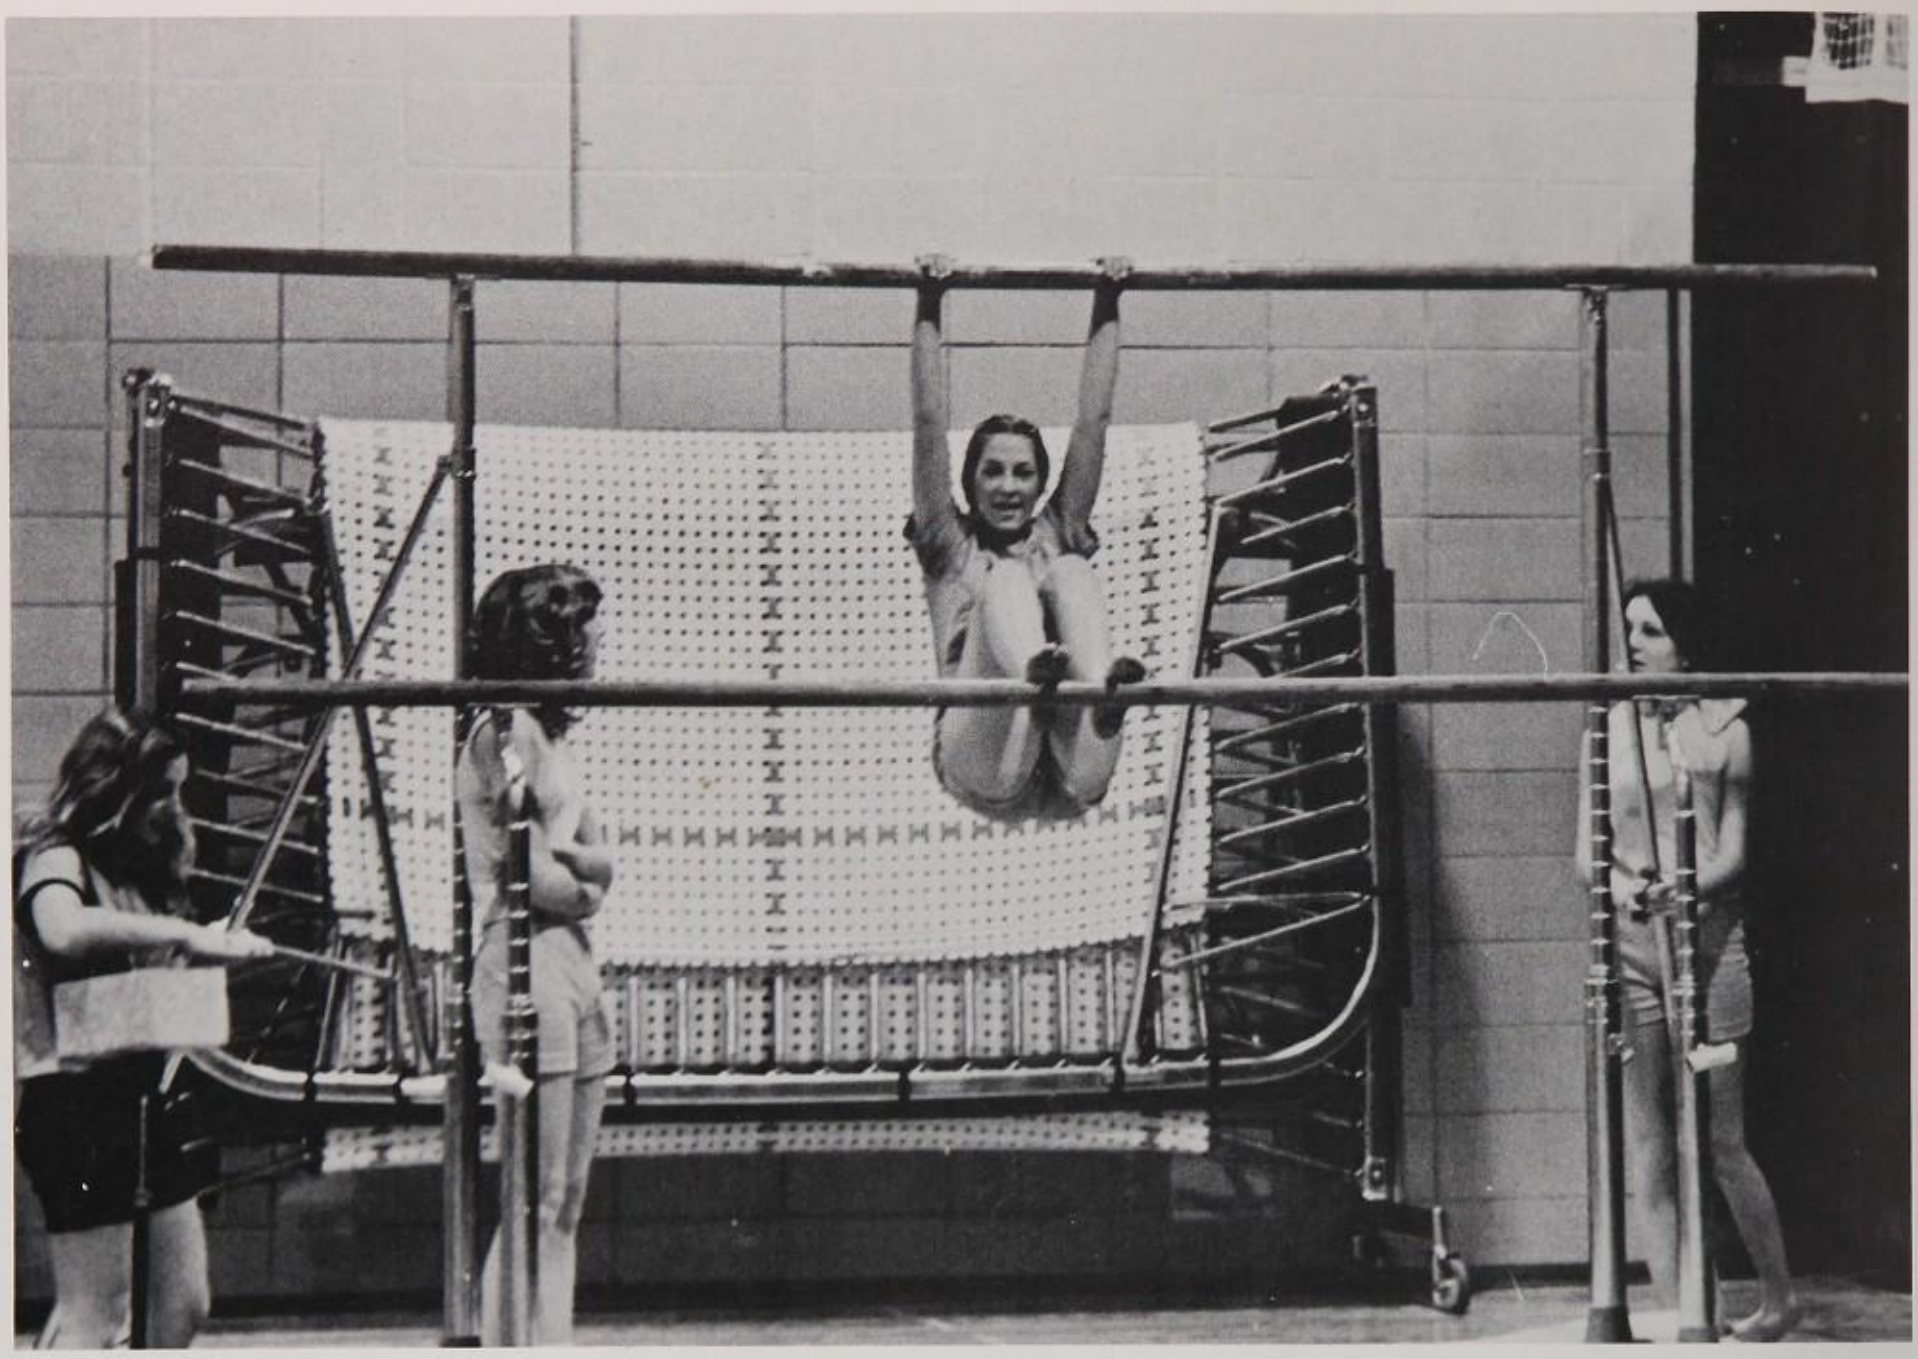
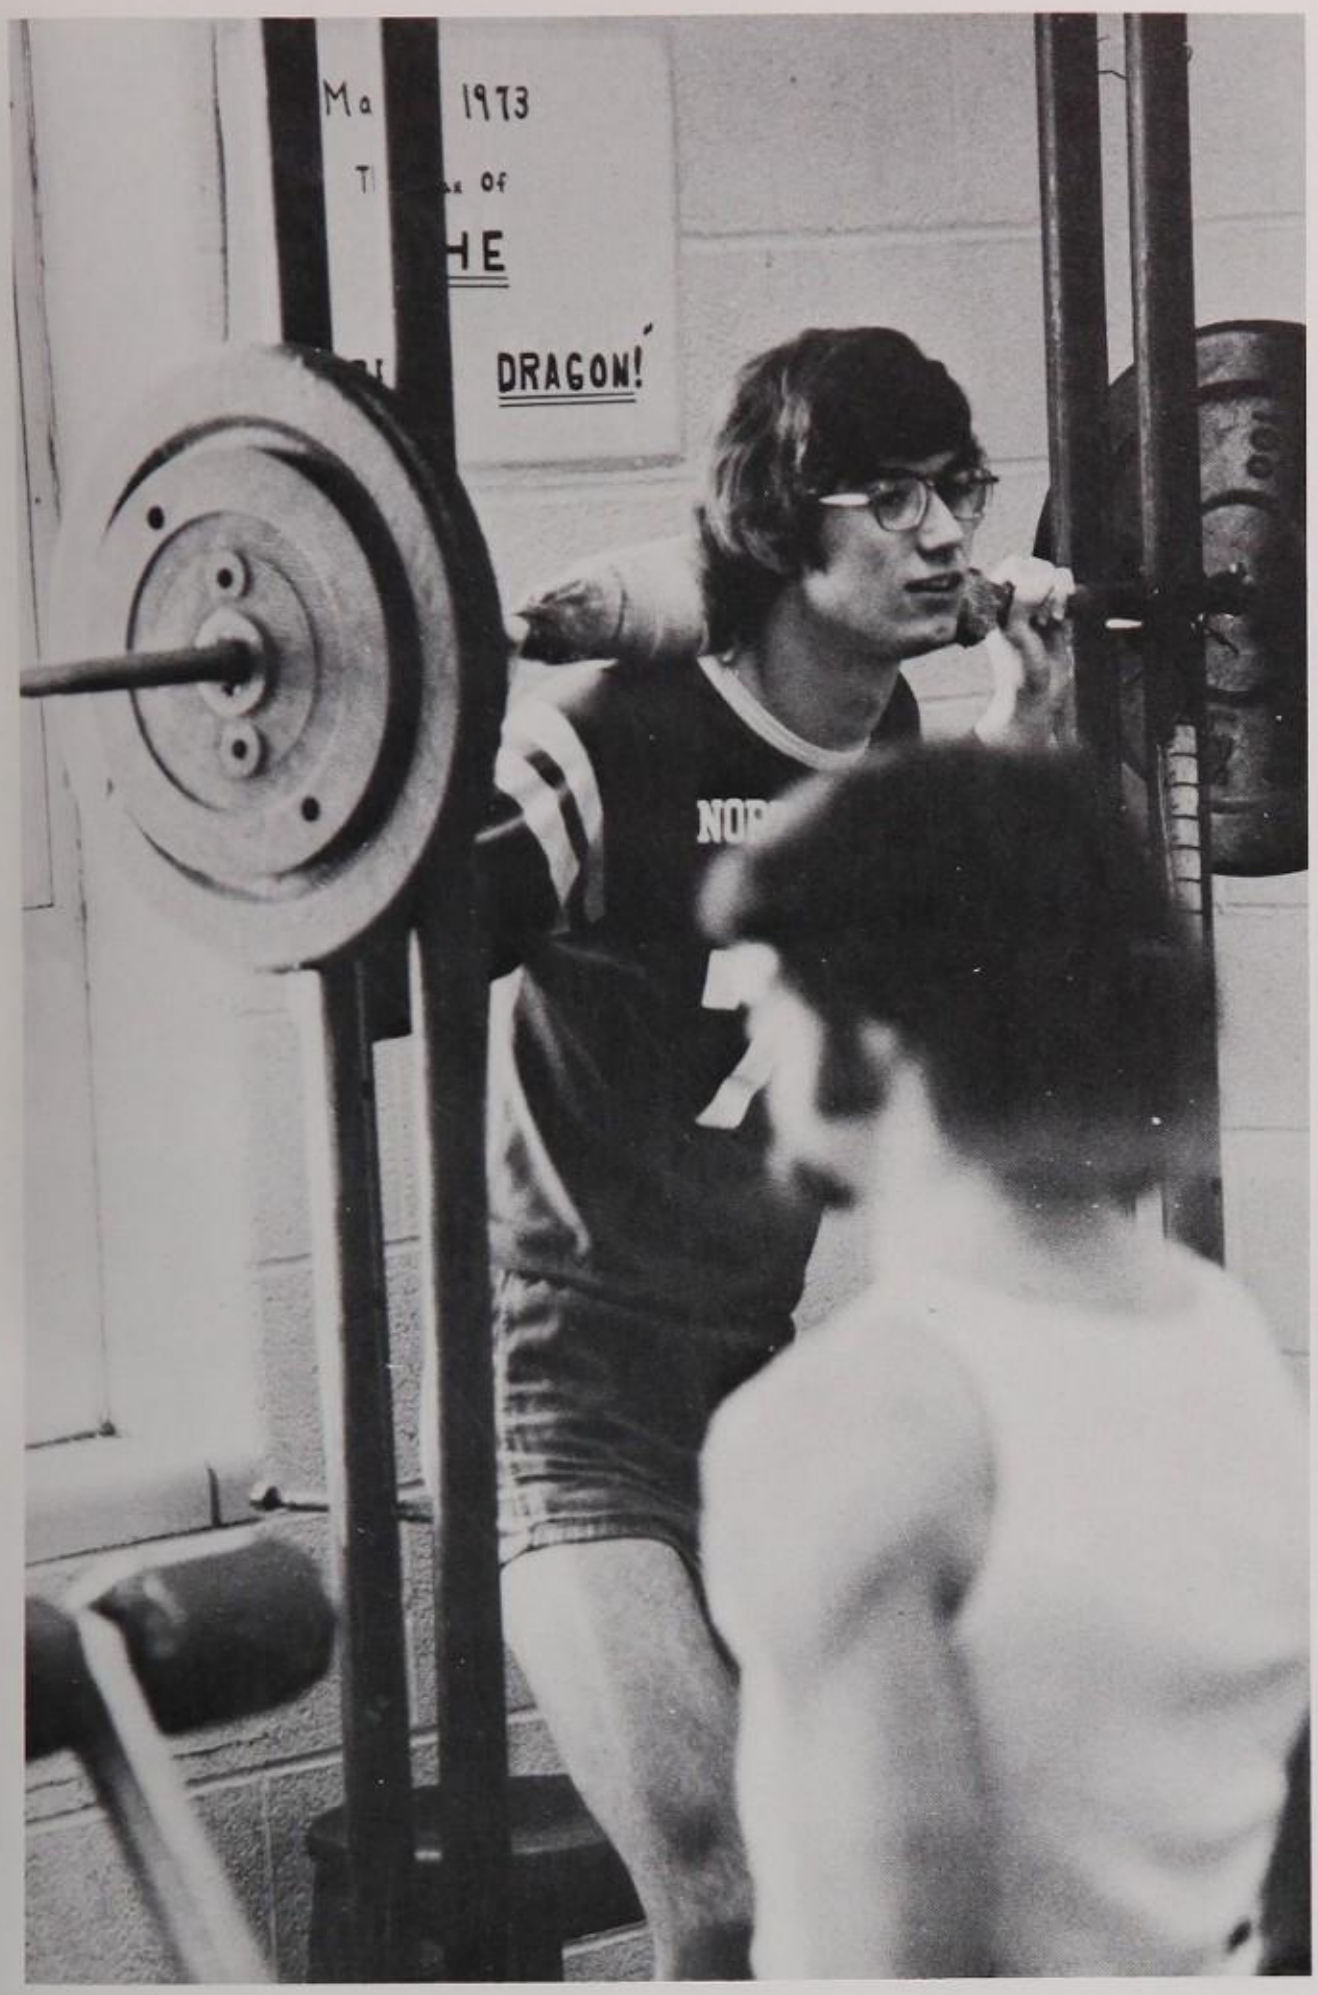
Gene Seeberger—mixed choir, girls choir, musical professional singer of opera and musical comedy.





Juniors learn art of defense in PE program

Junior girls enrolled in a newly added course in their physical education class this year. Self-defense added excitement for the juniors while at the same time a way of coordinating fast moves to throw an opponent, taught the girls to defend themselves in case of an emergency.

Along with a new course, three new teachers joined West's physical education department. Mrs. Diana Schwab along with Miss Linda Meeds came to teach the girls and Steve Maltby taught the boys.

During first period, Sherwin Bowser, athletic director, organized a small group of seniors for a senior gym course. The class consisted of bowling and swimming, basketball and other fun sports. The class met three times a week during the year.

New equipment at West tests smog emission

In February power mechanics received a new piece of equipment to test automotive smog emission. Students in power mechanics learned to operate the new device and test the vehicles of students and faculty for the rest of the year.

On May 11, power mechanics sent a two man team to Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest. Seniors, Tom Hunsaker and Paul Allen travelled to Cincinnati to compete with schools from all over the state. The two captured first place on the written test and finished third place overall in a region comprised of 27 schools.

West's industrial education department added commercial art and photography to its program this year. The new semester courses, taught by Ray Potter and Ralph Price, branched from graphic arts. Commercial art students' field trips included visits to several commercial art studios and Kettering-Oakwood Times.

Area dealers donated six new 1973 cars to the drivers education department this year. All cars had intercom systems installed for communication purposes on the driving range. Traffic engineers, police officers and insurance men visited the driving classes during the year.

OWE course widens West's vocational set

OWE, Occupational Work Experience, became a part of West's vocational program this year. The new course offered interested students more in vocational training and experience. Mr. Steak, Honda of Dayton, Vagabond Creations Printing Shop, and Dayton Ornamental Iron included some of the OWE jobs.

Students enrolled in OWE attended a half day of school and worked 25 to 30 hours a week on the job. OWE classes met daily in 502 with the co-ordinator of the program, Charles Morgan.

DCT, Diversified Cooperative Training moved to a new location this year. The class moved from the industrial education building to central unit room 210. Once again, DCT, under the direction of William Stager, offered interested seniors a wide range of experience.

DCT classes made a few field trips during the year. Some of the trips included visits to Armco Steel, the bankruptcy court, and the unemployment bureau. Officers for DCT included Steve Williams, president; Ralph Holland, vice-president and Becky Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

DECA students gain experience in bookstores

Distributive Education classes controlled the operation of the unit bookstores this year. The bookstore operations gave Dale Berry's vocational students needed practical retailing experience.

DE had a new sign press set up in their classroom this year. The press, operated by DE students, produced many of the signs and posters displayed on campus.

Elected officers included Blaine Trauger; president; Mary Meuche, vice-president; Nancy Himebaugh, secretary and Dan Steininger, treasurer. Debbie Leggett represented DE as the junior president.

One of Jane Nolan's Cooperative Office Education students took office as the Region III Parliamentarian this year. COE senior Cheryl Thomas assisted in representing a region comprised of 57 schools and 1550 members in the student organization of the vocational Ohio Office Education association, OEA.

In early February, some COE students entered the Region III contest. Senior Kathy Hovey placed first in verbal communication and went to the state convention in Columbus on March 31. Four members journeyed to the national convention in Albuquerque, New Mexico, during the first week in May.

In April, COE members held an employer-employee luncheon to show their appreciation and thanks. Cathy Creel served COE as president; Becky Leakas, vice-president; Wanda Neargardner, secretary and Kathy Hovey, treasurer. Other officers included Cheryl Thomas, news reporter and Sandy Garrett, historian.

Student body gets first look at new magazine

Under the leadership of Judy Lewis, the first semester journalism class published their own newspaper, "Dragon Wiskers," and a magazine titled "J-Mag." Both publications were sold to the student body.

Dave Hafenbrack received several awards for his artistic achievements. Burg-West awarded him a $1200 scholarship and Shilito's of Cincinnati presented him two awards for presentations in the Southern Ohio Regional Exhibition.

James Falasco came to the resource center as an assistant librarian. A graduate of Bowling Green, he aided in monitering and other library duties. He also served as hockey club adviser.

Breakfast bar receives 250 each morning

Fairmont West lunchroom staff consisted of 19 cooks. Each morning they served at least 250 students in the breakfast bar and 1600 more at lunch.

Student favorites included pizzas, fried chicken, cheeseburgers and submarines. Students also doted on the homemade cakes and cookies each day.

Carl Hofferberth's custodial staff of ten men, faced the problem of keeping the campus grounds in the cleanest possible condition. Students aided with a variety of cleanup campaigns.

Officers plan annual dance for spring date

Striving to make a successful sophomore class dance, Shawn Cochran, president; discussed all details with Shannon Harding, vice-president; Cynthia Haacke, secretary; Janis Fick, social chairman; and Amy Weber, treasurer. A spring date marked this semi-formal festivity.

Eight sophomores donated ideas and time to West's student government. By participating in the social council or student senate, members worked with the school officials and upperclassmen.

Sophomores showing exceptional ability in sports, appeared as good prospects for future teams at West. Underclassmen entered the school filled with anticipation of club involvement and opportunity for new activities as well as education.

Junior council, class officers, plan for prom

Junior class officers, elected as sophomores included president Rick Chollar, vice-president Lloyd Caldwell, secretary Barbara Labarr, treasurer Tina Wells and social chairman Craig Carpenter.

Serving as a theme for the class dance, "Monte Carlo" had semi-formal dress with couples dancing to the music of Sunuva. Juniors decided against the election of a traditional queen and king for the dance.

Ten juniors served West in the student senate or social council. Lloyd Caldwell headed a committee to review the grading system and grade point averages.

Participation of cast and crew members in "Ten Little Indians" involved practice hours from 3–7 p.m. Roxanne Massa assisted in the direction along with Dave Bridgman providing leadership in the set design and lighting effects.

Seniors finish West activities with graduation

Senior year might mean anything from an early January graduation to taking simple or easy credit courses to suffering pangs of second-semester senioritis.

Tradition mixes with the uniqueness of the senior year. After hearing campaign speeches from candidates, seniors elected class officers, who planned a class dance and after-prom activities at the new Kettering Recreation Center.

Presenting the annual play, the cast of "A Spell of Evil," marked November 16, 17, and 18 as performance evenings. The play portrayed a modern witchcraft situation.

Year-end activities consisted of award banquets in journalism, Rhythmettes, GAA spring sports and music. The orchestra, band and chorus gave concerts.

Baccalaureate service and commencement exercise consisted of individual speeches and musical arrangements from seniors who volunteered their talents. Held on June 5, the 550 graduates of the class of '73 received their diplomas at UD arena.

Becky Hawk and Carol Talbot served the student body as president and vice-president, respectively. Lynn Keyton reigned as homecoming queen and Elaine Howard as GAA's Miss Dragonette.

Linda Hartley spent the summer prior to her senior year traveling in Denmark as a representative of AFS students. A total of 25 Americans accompanied her Outstanding senior Clem Hamilton participated in Youth Forum, honor science seminars and stage band. An honored National Merit Finalist, he plans to attend Harvard University in Massachusetts.

R. A. Miller, President

Man is challenged today to excel in almost every endeavor . . . those who do succeed often trace the beginnings of their performance pattern to accomplishment in high school and to those who offered stimulation and inspiration in these formative years. Josten's has long been a partner to these educational leaders in providing a means of motivation and the rewards of recognition, and Josten's products have become tangible symbols honoring perseverance and achievement.

The class ring is representative of the fine traditions of school spirit and unity ☐ The yearbook provides a lasting memento of the year's accomplishments ☐ The diploma is a lifelong record of scholastic success ☐ The graduation announcement heralds this achievement ☐ Awards recognize academic and athletic leadership.

MORE THAN 3,000 JOSTEN'S EMPLOYEES ARE DEDICATED TO YOUR COMPLETE SATISFACTION. SERVING YOU LOCALLY:

THE OFFICIAL CLASS RING FOR
FAIRMONT WEST HIGH SCHOOL

These exclusive designs were created for the students at Fairmont West High School. One is the traditional design, and due to popular demand, we've created a new oval ring. Each features your coat-of-arms and the famous Dragon mascot. Both rings are made of 10K sunshine gold and are available with gold panel, black, white, purple, or red stones. (Gold panel and mother-of-pearl are not available in new ring.)

DRAGON STAFF 1973

Finish every day and be done with it.
You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubtly crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too
dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the yesterdays.

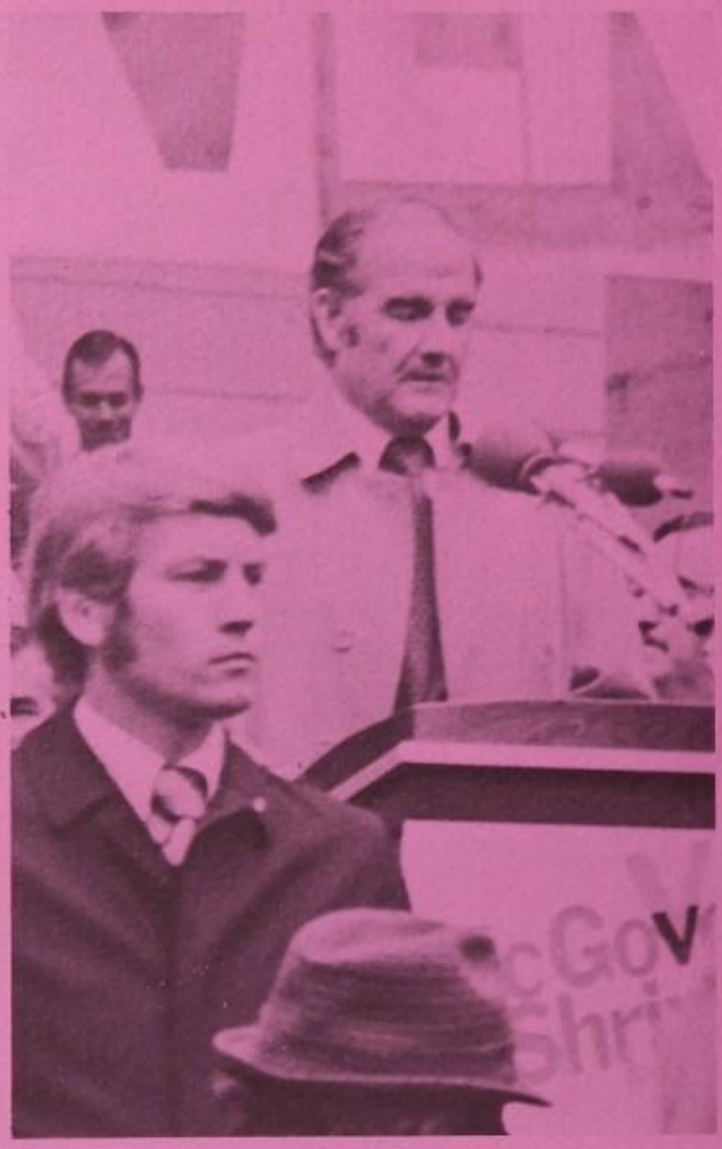
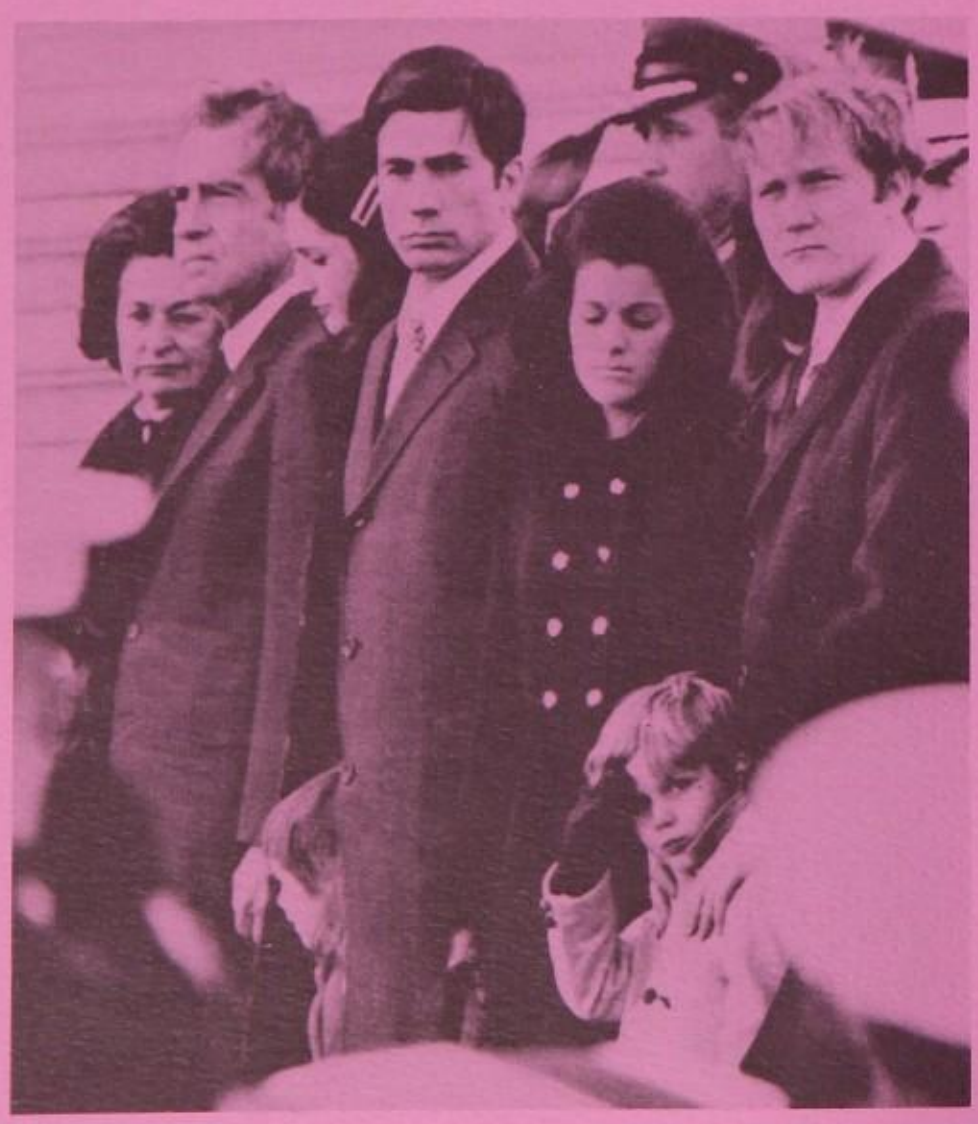
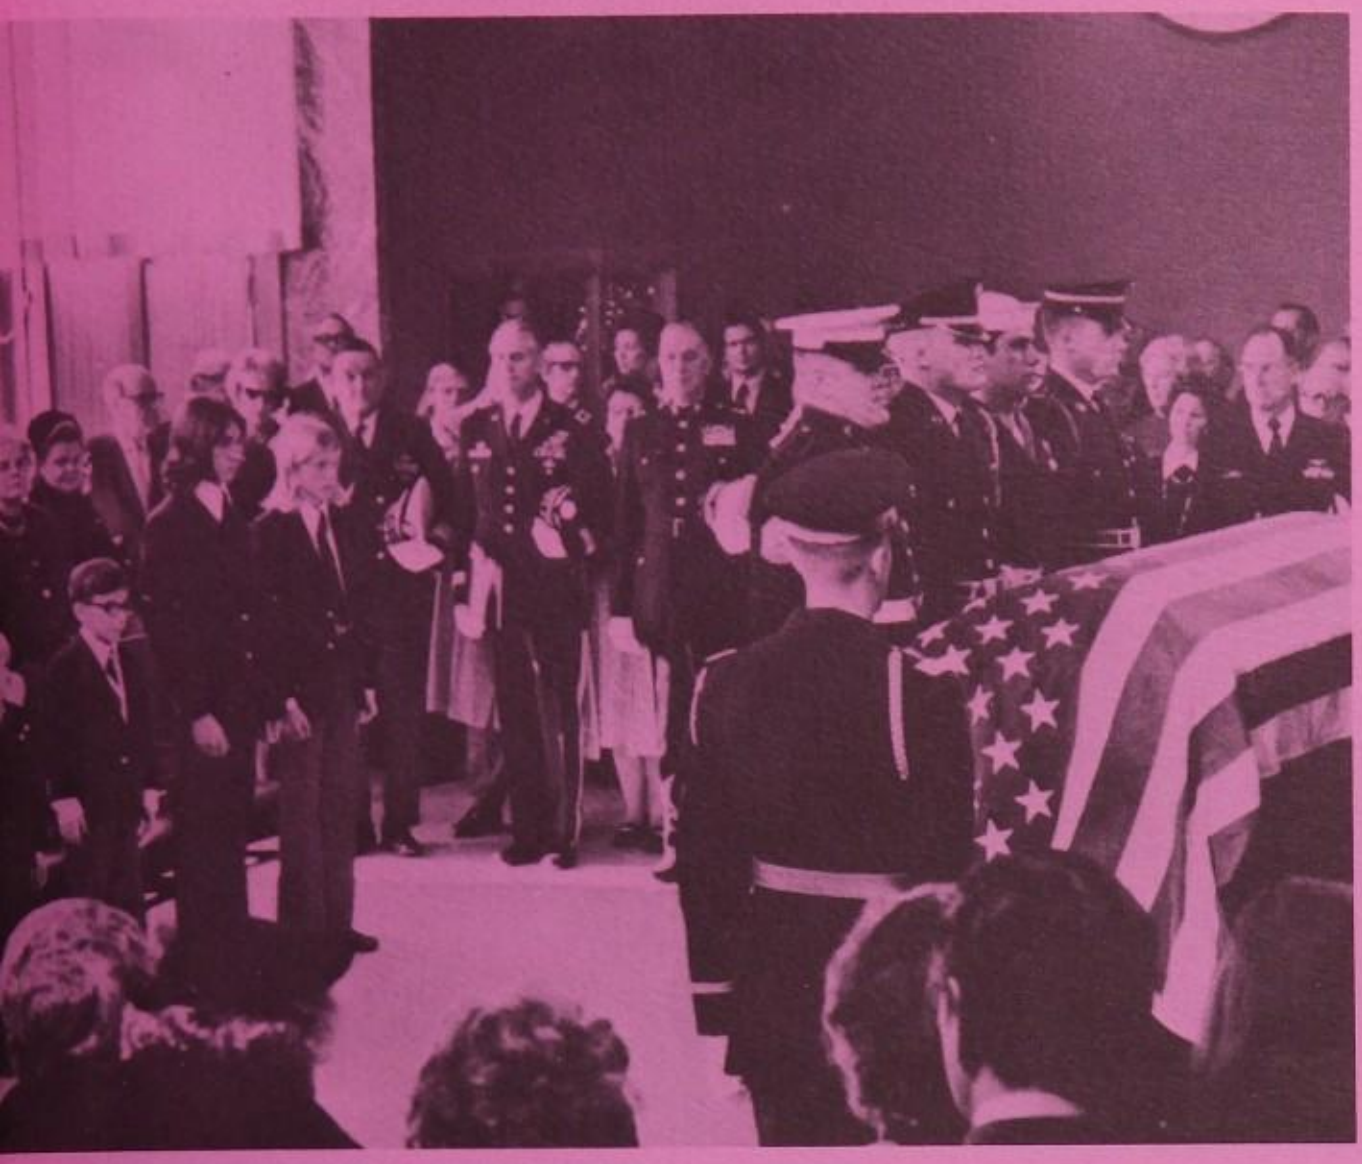
Below: Joe Morgan streaks into third base in the sixth game of the World Series. Bottom: Members of the Johnson family along with President Nixon watch the processional of the late Lyndon B. Johnson. Right: George McGovern, Democratic Presidential nominee, speaks on the court house steps while visiting Dayton. Far right: As the body of the late Harry S. Truman lies in state in the Truman library, daughter Margaret Truman Daniels and her family pay their last respects. Below center right: Blood stains and bullet holes mark the places where the members of the Israeli Olympic team died at the hands of Arab guerillas. Below far right: Air Force Captain Robert Meckenbier greets his wife after deplaning at WPAFB.







Across the world during the '72-'73 school year people dared to be different in many ways and in many places: Four Arab guerillas invaded Olympic village killing 11 members of the Israeli team, halting the games for 23 hours; Mark Spitz wore home seven gold medals for swimming, the most ever won by a single athlete; the Red's lost to the Oakland Athletics three games to four in the 1972 world series; Miami's Dolphins went undefeated, winning the Super Bowl; the New York Knicks defeated the LA Lakers in a best five of seven games playoff; November brought the elections with Richard Nixon defeating George McGovern by a landslide; Death struck many of the world's greats: former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson, author Pearl S. Buck, actress Irene Ryan, Alexander Onassis and world renowned artist Pablo Picasso; Paris peace talks ended with the signing of a peace agreement; next came the return of the POWs but the fighting continued and MIAs didn't come home; a 6.5 earthquake struck Managua, killing thousands; Pittsburgh Pirate star Roberto Clemente met death in a plane crash on a relief mission to earthquake victims; the accusations of Republicans bugging Democratic headquarters in the Watergate during the Presidential campaign proved controversial throughout the year causing the resignations of top White House officials John Dean, John Erhlichman, H.R. Haldeman and Attorney General Richard Kleindienst precipitated publicly televised Senate investigation hearings; an unmanned U.S. Sky Lab blasted off May 14, to be followed by three men who would inhabit the space-ship for 28 days but complications delayed the flight; "Cabaret" made a sweep of 12 Academy Awards, with Liza Minelli as best actress; "The Godfather" took best picture and Marlon Brando won the Oscar for best actor, but sent an Indian girl to refuse it in protest of the treatment of the American Indian; violent killings, fires and occupation by a band of Indians put Wounded Knee, South Dakota on the map.

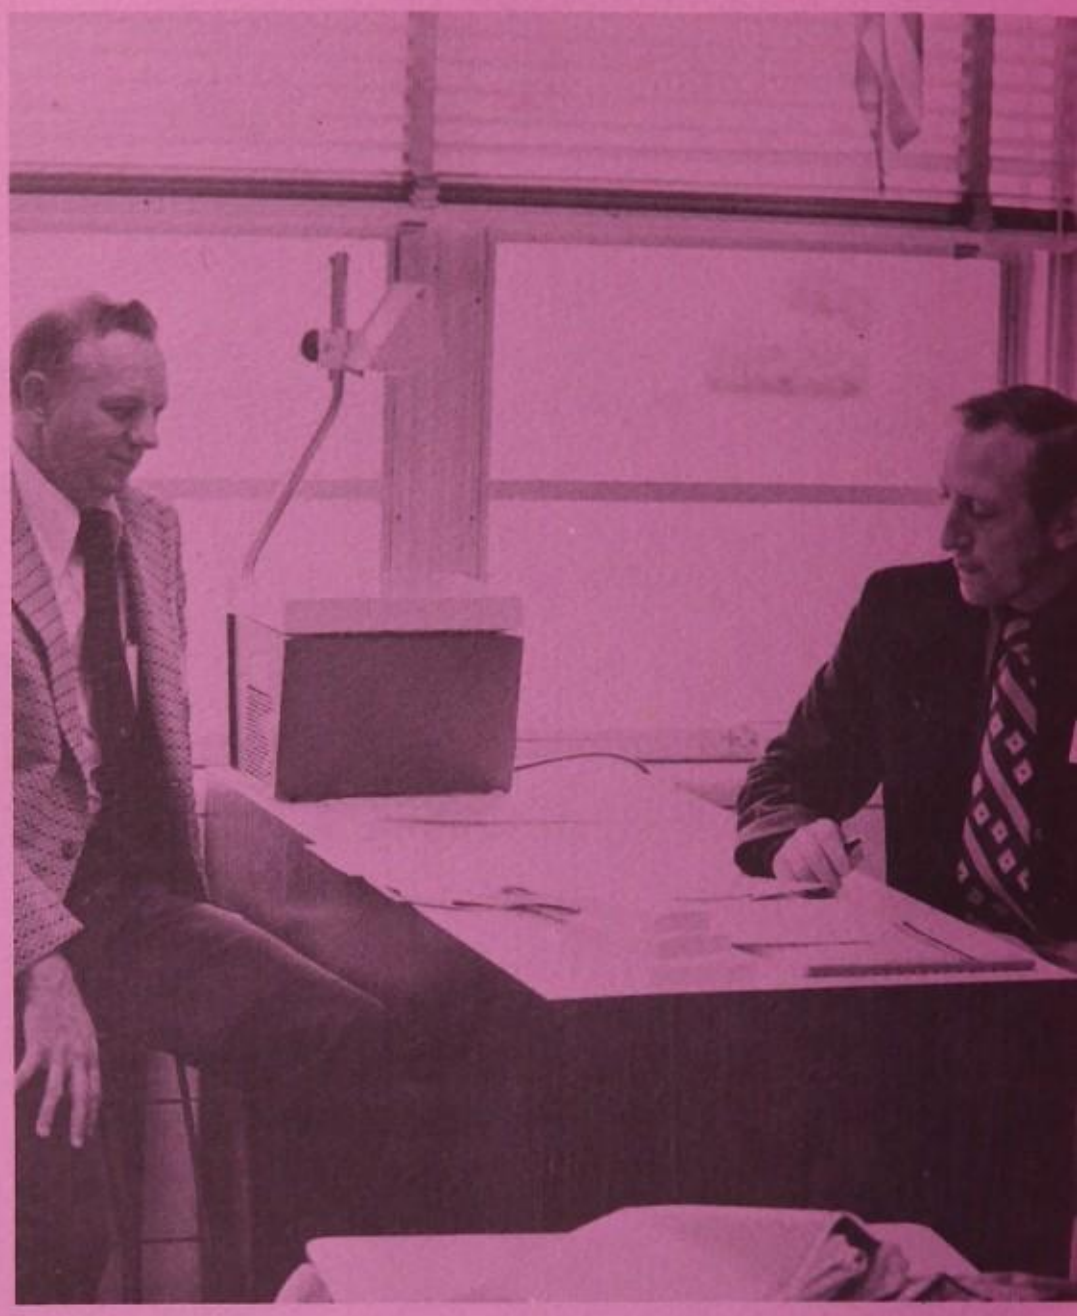
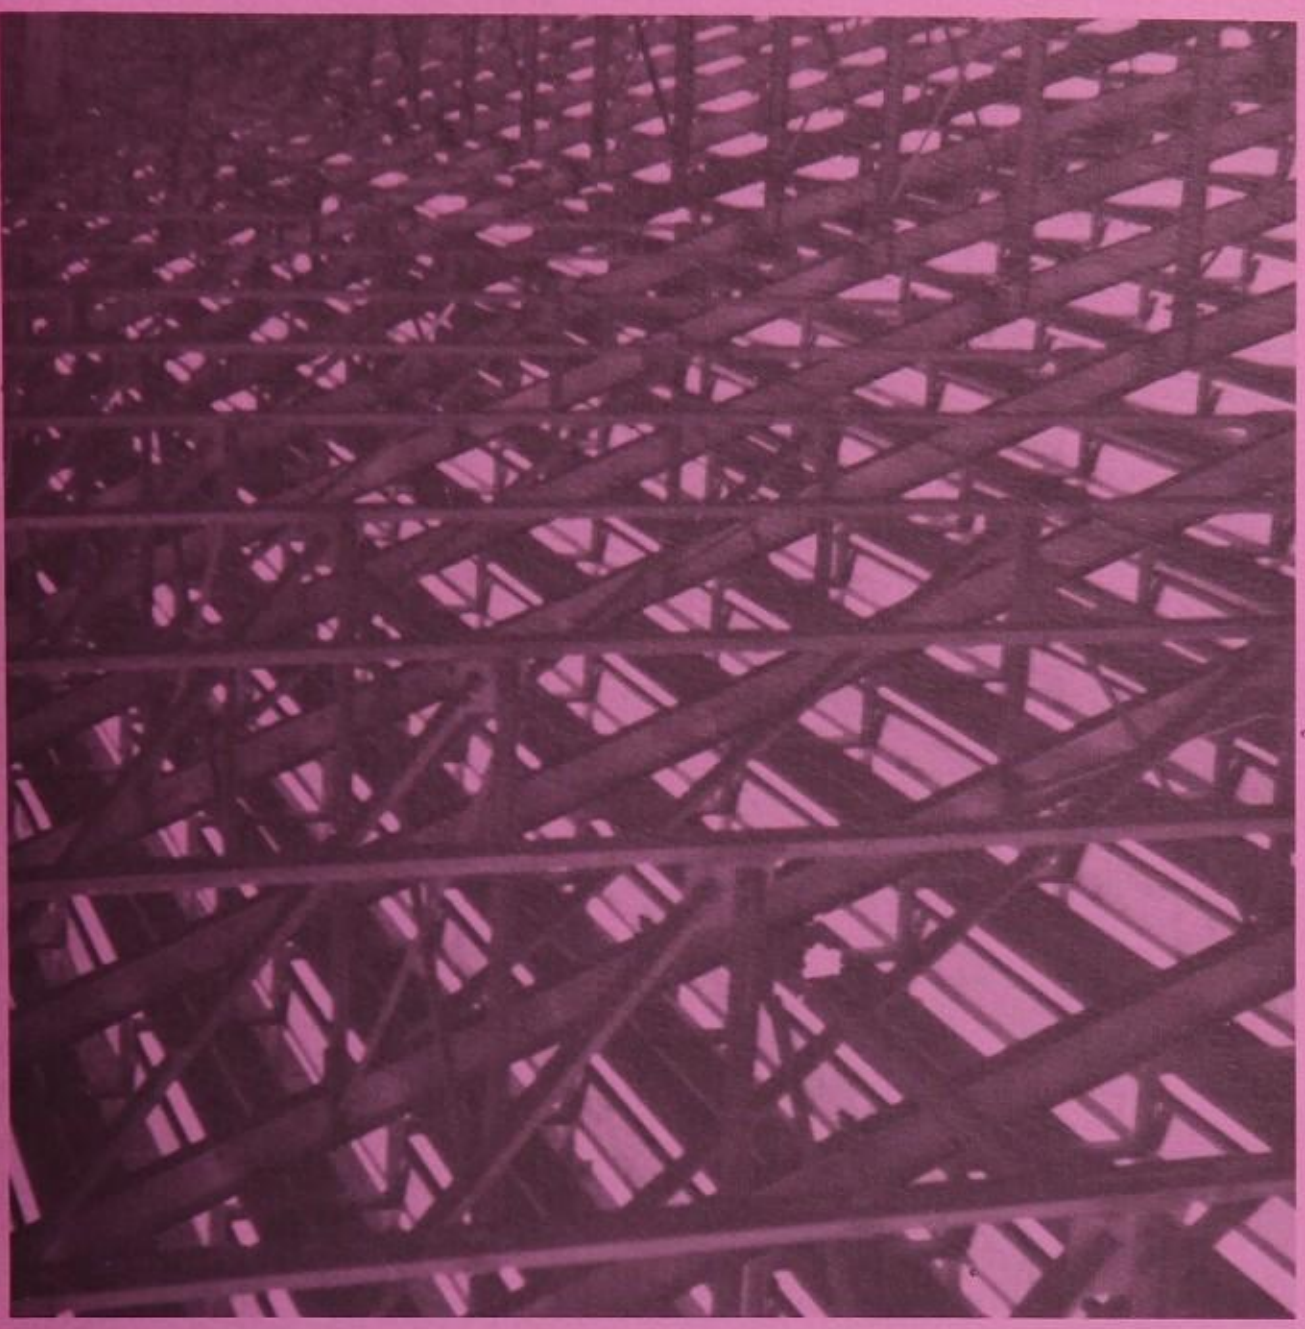
Ohio, Dayton and Kettering showed numerous accomplishments during the year: Ohioan Dave Wottle won a gold medal for the 800 meter in track and field at the Munich Olympics; USC defeated the Ohio State University Buckeyes 41–17 at the Rose Bowl in Pasedena, California on New Years Day; Tonight Show personality, Doc Severinson performed before a full house at UD arena while on winter tour; Meat boycott by area families caused an increase in the sale of vegetables and fish; Downtown Dayton's Christmas Mall added international decor to live trees along two blocks of Main Street; Dayton's Convention center opened for use in January hosting many shows and social functions including its own Grand Opening, featuring MASH's MacLean Stevenson; City of Kettering finally received a new courts building adjacent to the city building on Shroyer Road; Construction ended on the Kettering Recreation Center located on the east side of Kettering and opened for use in time to host this year's after-prom activities; UD football player Matt Dallinghouse met death after breaking his neck in the UD-Toledo game, former mayor of Kettering Robert Haverstick also passed away; WING and WTUE named Gilbert O'Sullivan's "Alone Again, Naturally" hit song of 1972; construction along Shroyer Road again caused Westonians many traffic tie-ups; Ohio's Supreme Court ruled that James Rhodes would be eligible to run for governor; Controvercial murder trial of Anthony Lauricella concluded with a verdict of guilty in the murder of his wife; WPAFB served as a receiving station for returning POW's.

Below: Miss Ola Olujobi, Nigerian exchange teacher, explains laws and government of Africa to a civics class. Below right: Pete Van Zant, Joe Duncan and Jim Hook joke around with the four English exchange students that visited West for three weeks. Right: North Central evaluators, Dr. Roger Coy and Mickey McDade, discuss the classes they attended that day. Below far right: Alfred Bolender acts as moderator of Fairmont Forum, a new concept of bringing current issues to West. Far right: An underneath look at the new Fairmont stadium which doubled the seating room for sports fans.

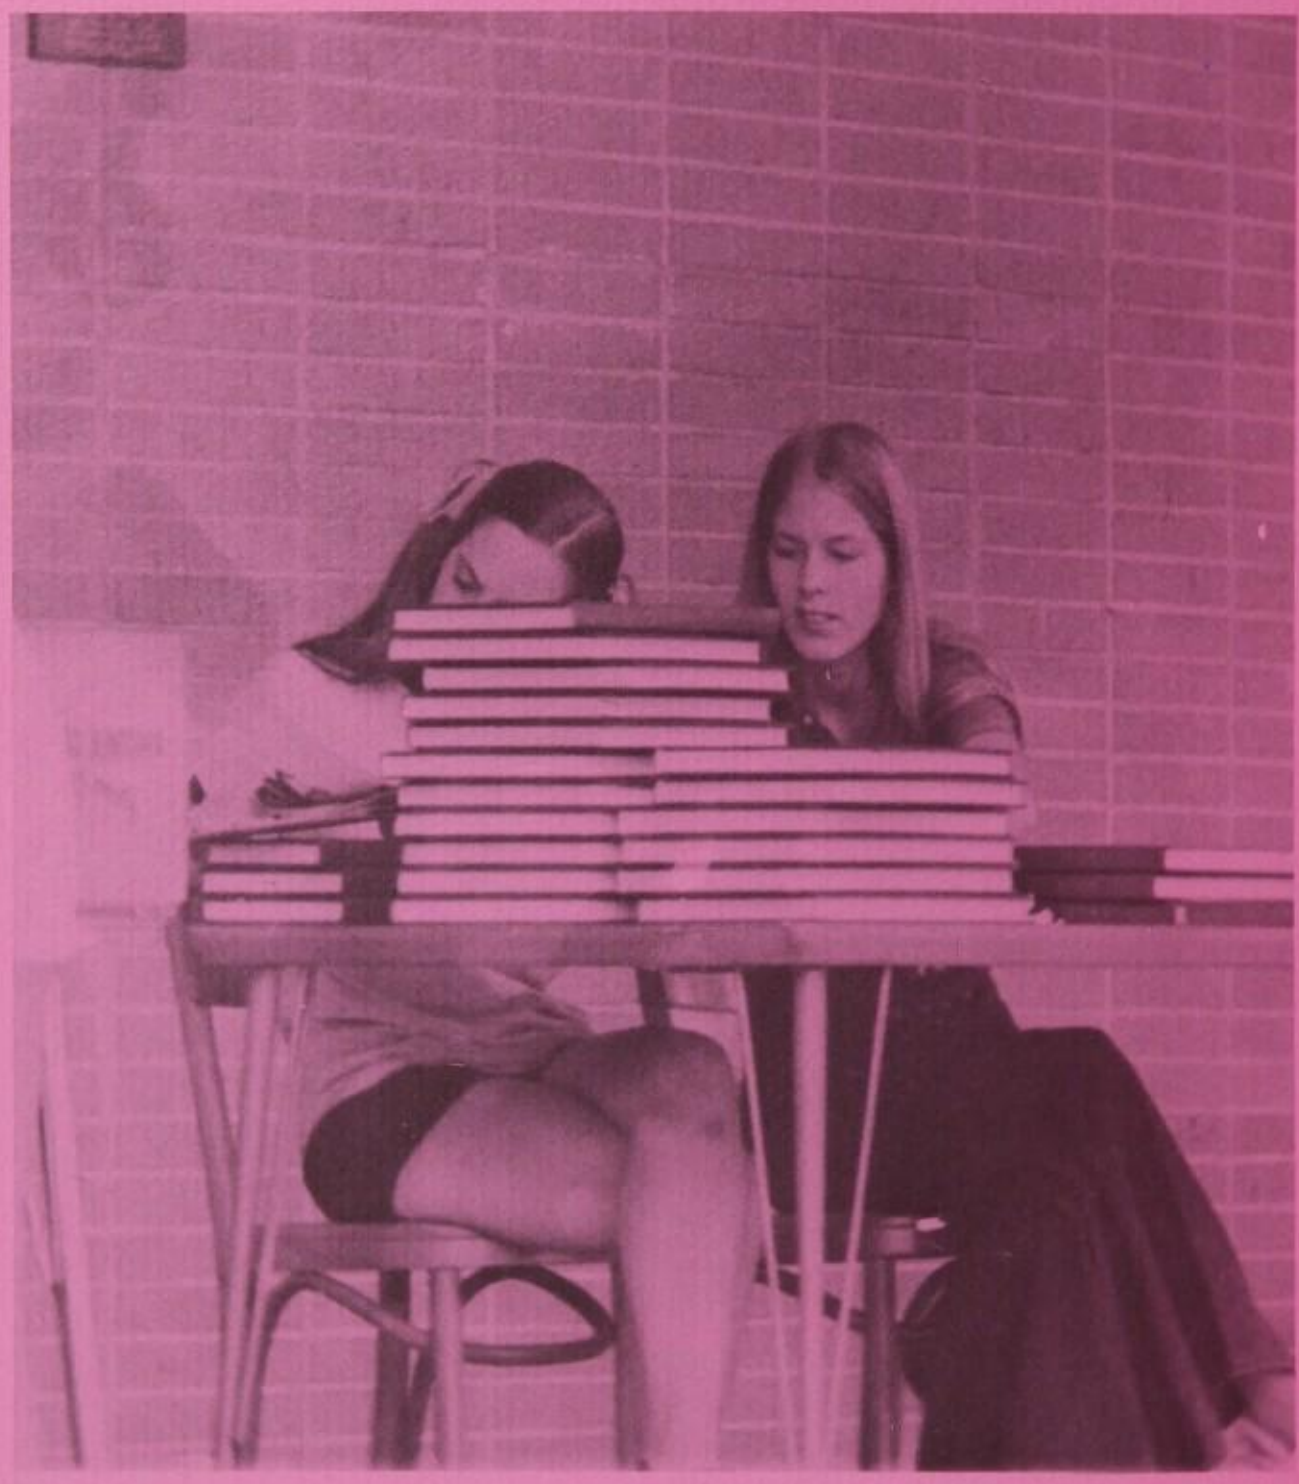




Events highlighting Fairmont West included the first athletic season in the new Fairmont Stadium donated by Charles "Bo" Foreman, an alumni of Fairmont, the stadium provided a seating capacity of 7,000; Nigerian exchange teacher, Miss Ola Olujobi, came to the United States to learn about our country and to familiarize us with hers; Earth Day became a big project as students helped in planting trees and a general campus cleanup in order to help the Environment; Five English exchange students spent three weeks in Kettering with families at West learning the social life of residents in the U.S. North Central Evaluating team spent two days at West attending classes and inspecting the curriculum as done in the school system every seven years; Students set the pace by achieving honors: Clem Hamilton and Mark Erbaugh made National Merit finalists, Laurelee Osborne won the Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Future scholarship; Junior Mona Ellerbrock won honors to attend the National Science Foundation for the summer, Amy Burson participated in the National diving competition in Florida for the fourth consecutive year, Readers Theatre placed third in the state, Casey Daganhardt captured first place in the sectional tennis competition; Hugh Brown set a new format for bringing the political scene to West by starting the Fairmont Forum; Construction started in May for new sidewalks criss-crossing the quadrangles; Edson Alson spent the school year at West as an Exchange Student from Brazil; Linda Hartley spent the summer prior to her senior year as an exchange student in Denmark; "West Side Story" finally hit the West auditorium; Golf, tennis and track teams all took first place in the WOL posting the best record ever seen at Fairmont; Board of Education announced John Stuckey as Paul Wagner's replacement as assistant principal.

Dragon '73 staff members overcame many obstacles in putting out this yearbook: Meeting deadlines, developing pictures, setting copy, writing captions and the lack of support from advertisers, students and parents created many of these difficulties but we, with the help of Bob and Kenny Logan of Logan Studios, Terry Hirtzinger, Taylor, Inc. and our adviser Ms. Judy Lewis conquered these problems and published the 1973 DRAGON.

...Daring to be Different



West graduate Marg Dicke and senior Lois Tungate distribute yearbooks in August '72 as the last act members of the staff perform.
